GAS MEN MAKE CONSUMERS PAY FOR TENANTS

Signers of Guarantee Say Bills Are Presented After Property Is Vacated.

SUIT IS CONTEMPLATED

Landlords Threatened With Loss of Supply Unless They Satisfy Monopoly.

UNITED WAR PLANNED

Realty Holder Says Bills Were Presented for Persons He Never Knew.

Ten thousand St. Louis property owners who guaranteed the payment of gas bills for their tenants are threatened with suit by the Laclede Gas Light Co. These property owners are finding attached to their regular monthly gas bills the alleged unpaid bills of their tenants and former tenants, with notice that unless the bills are promptly paid their own gas supply will be cut off.

The gas company, in lieu of the $5 and $10 deposits, will accept the guarantee of the owner of the property that the gas bills will be paid. Some of the guarantors now say that the gas company is demanding payment not only for gas, but also for fixtures, stoves and heaters. Some of the bills are for service alleged to have been rendered long after the tenants removed from the guarantor's property. The bills amount from a few dollars to $200.

Property Owner Talks.

H. C. Koenig of 3836 Kosciusko street, who owns about eighty houses in St. Louis, is one of the many property owners of whom the gas company has demanded payment of the delinquent bills.

"Several years ago," said Mr. Koenig to the Post-Dispatch, "the Laclede Gas Light Co. had its solicitors working in this part of the city.

"The company induced some of my tenants to take gas and then came to me and asked me to sign the guarantee. This was more than three years ago, and many of those tenants have moved away and I have lost track of them. Just recently the gas company began sending me the delinquent bills and threatened to shut off my gas unless I paid them. Some of the bills were for gas stoves and other fixtures. As I had signed the guarantee merely for the monthly gas bill, I refused to pay.

"I sent the company a check for my own gas bill, and it returned it with notice that I would have to pay the delinquent bill. The check was returned a second time, with the statement that my gas would be cut off unless I paid up.

"I consulted my attorney and informed the gas company that I would pay only such gas bills as were incurred while the tenants were occupying my property, and that I would not pay for any gas stoves or other fixtures. I told the company I would bring an injunction suit if any attempt was made to cut off my gas. Since then the company has been accepting my checks and receipting my bills.

Did Not Know Persons.

"Some of the bills they sent me were for people I never heard of and who certainly never were my tenants. Many of the bills were run up after the tenants moved away from my property.

"As a matter of fact, I signed the guarantee more as an accommodation for the gas company than for the tenants.

"The understanding was that the guarantee was merely to cover one month's gas bill and that the company would protect me by refusing to turn on the gas for these people, in case they moved away, until all bills were paid."

Persons who have been keeping in touch with this effort of the gas company to enforce the collection of the delinquent bills say that the agents of the company informed them that they were pursuing 10,000 property owners and that the company would sue all persons who did not pay.

Holders Plan to Unite.

Some of the property owners are in favor of forming an organization to raise money to fight in the courts this latest move of the Beggs monopoly. Many others, rather than fight a suit, are paying, although the bills have been run up since the persons for whom they signed the guarantee moved out of their property. One man has been asked to pay a bill incurred in September, 1907, for a person for whom he signed as guarantee in February, 1902.

Secretary Holman of the gas company said it was making nothing more than its usual effort to collect these bills. He said the persons who signed the guarantees had bound themselves for the bills of their tenants and would have to make good, or abide by the consequences.

MAN WITH TWO PACKAGES, ONE CONTAINING LUNCH, ASKS $500 AT BANK, FALLS ASLEEP

Frightens Several Tellers, but Now He Is Slumbering It Off in a Cell.

Walter Evans of 1937 Utah street called at the Boatmen's Bank soon after the doors opened Monday morning. He went to the paying teller's window.

"Gimme $500," he said, with a terrible scowl.

He had two kinds of packages—one under his arm.

The teller glanced from the scowl to the package, and just then he thought he heard someone calling him. So did the tellers in the adjoining cages.

Left alone, Evans made up his mind that he had about enough of what he intended to buy with the $500. He lay down on the floor, folded his hands and went to sleep.

Chief Creecy was asked to send some policemen quick. He called up Capt. O'Malley at Carr street, and Policeman Knight was sent down. He first cautiously removed the package from under Evans' arm. Then he removed Evans to the Carr Street Station.

One package contained Walter Evans' lunch. The exact composition of the other package is a matter for experts to decide.

HIRES CREMATORY TO BURN HIS BODY, THEN SHOOTS SELF OUTSIDE

Michigan Man's Act Occasioned by Grief Over Death of His Wife.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 30.—Melvin A. Root, 69 years old, of Bay City, Mich., made arrangements ten days ago with a crematory here to cremate his body when he should die. This morning he went out to the crematory and shot himself three times while on the front steps.

He was taken to the Sisters' Hospital, where it is said he cannot live.

Root's wife died recently. Her body was cremated and brought to Lockport, where her ashes were buried.

Root, who was originally from Lockport, arranged to have his ashes buried there beside hers.

TARGET TORPEDO DISABLES SHIP

Blakeley Will Be Dry-Docked to Repair Damage.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—An accident to the torpedo-boat Blakely, which has been engaged in torpedo target practice at St. Joseph's Bay, Florida, has compelled her to return to the Pensacola Navy Yard, where it will be necessary to dock the vessel and make repairs.

No details of the accident are given in the report to the Navy Department, except that the vessel had been pierced by a torpedo.

MAN AND WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN A FIELD; BOTH SHOT

Cleveland Police Believe She Killed Him, Then Ended Own Life.

MARRIED MAN MISSING

Music Teacher and His Pupil Disappeared on the Same Day.

CLEVELAND, O., March 30.—The bodies of a man and a woman were found in a pasture at Coventry road, in a fashionable suburb, early today. Both had been shot through the heart. The woman apparently shot the man and then committed suicide.

A postcard found on the body of the woman was addressed to Miss Lena Ziechmann, Mayflower School. Down in the left-hand corner of the card was written "Marie L."

In the man's pocket was found a telephone receipt made out to Carl Bernthaler, 1763 East Thirty-third street. At that address it was found that Carl Bernthaler, music teacher, had been missing since Sunday afternoon. He had gone for a walk on Cedar Heights. When he did not return Monday Mrs. Bernthaler went out to look for him. She returned at 11 a. m. Monday without finding any trace of him.

High School Classmates.

At the home of Miss Lena Zeichmann it was said that Miss Zeichmann had been missing since Saturday at 3 p. m. Members of the family said that Miss Zeichmann and Bernthaler had been friends many years, having been classmates in Central High School. Later, Miss Zeichmann took music lessons of Bernthaler. She took a lesson at his home Saturday afternoon.

A workingman was passing the field, when he noticed two forms, 300 yards from the road. Marshal Brockway was notified. Both bodies lay face down. They were 75 yards from each other.

Former Judge Will Try Jerome.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 30.—Charles Andrews, former Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, has resigned as commissioner to take testimony for the Governor in the matter of charges against District Attorney Jerome.

LUMBER FIRM IS FINED $13,000 FOR TAKING REBATES

Chapman and Dewey of Kansas City Plead Guilty.

GIVE CHECK AT ONCE

Clerk Reaches Out Hand, Takes Slip, Earns $130.

The Chapman & Dewey Lumber company of Kansas City, Mo., pleaded guilty in United States District Court to accepting rebates on lumber shipments from the Frisco Railroad from points in Arkansas to St. Louis.

Notwithstanding the plea of the company's lawyers, Frank Hagerman and H. D. Ashley, that it was unaware that it was violating the law, Judge Dyer imposed a fine of $13,000 and costs, amounting to $158.63. A check for this amount was promptly handed Clerk Walter W. Nall by Hagerman.

In pleading guilty, the lumber company followed the example of the Frisco Railroad, which was fined the same amount recently, for giving rebates.

Clerk Nall was a happy man, as, for the labor of receiving the two big checks, he will receive a fee of ½ per cent, or more than $260.

60,000 EMPLOYED IN COTTON MILLS AFFECTED BY WAGE CUT

New England Movement Is to Apply to as Many More Next Week.

BOSTON, March 30.—The general reduction of 10 per cent in the wages of New England cotton mill operatives recently decided upon, became effective today in mills employing 60,000 persons. Next Monday the movement will apply to the pay of as many more. Fall River, Lawrence and Berkshire County are not included in the general reduction, but may be affected later.

Several minor strikes are regarded as possible, but no serious walk out is expected.

LEMP DIVORCE CASE BEGINS IN SECRET SESSION

Depositions Taken Behind Closed Doors in Attorney's Office.

The taking of depositions in the divorce suit of Mrs. Lillian Handlan Lemp against William J. Lemp Jr., millionaire president of the Lemp Brewing Co., began at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the office of Attorney George M. Block in the Carleton Building.

Block is the attorney who was named a special commissioner by Judge Kinsey, after objections had been made by Mr. Lemp's attorneys to several members of the bar suggested by Mrs. Lemp's lawyers on the ground that they were Catholics.

Attorney Block announced that Mr. Lemp's depositions would be taken secretly and that representatives of the press would not be permitted to hear the testimony.

Mr. Lemp began his deposition a few minutes after 2 o'clock. He went to the block office, accompanied by his attorneys, William B. Thompson and Fred W. Lehmann.

Judge Daniel Dillon and J. S. Leahy were present as Mrs. Lemp's legal representatives.

Mrs. Lemp is suing for $800,000 alimony and the custody of their son, William J. Lemp, aged 8. He now resides with his mother in Mr. Lemp's home, across the street from the Lemp Brewery. By order of the Court, Mr. Lemp is permitted to see the child occasionally.

Alleges Cruelty and Disrespect.

In her petition Mrs. Lemp alleges cruelty and incompatibility and charges, too, that Mr. Lemp spoke disrespectfully of her religion. Mrs. Lemp is a Catholic. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Handlan.

GILLETTE ADMITS HE SLEW "BILLY" BROWN; EXECUTED

Youth Who Lured Girl to Lake and Killed Her Meets Death Calmly in Electric Chair.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 30.—Chester E. Gillette today paid the penalty in the electric chair for the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown, whom he had wronged, and whom he lured to death under the pretext that he was taking her to the marriage altar to right her wrongs. Just before he walked to the death chamber he confessed his crime to his spiritual advisers, the Rev. Henry McIlvray and Prison Chaplain Herrick.

Within two minutes after the current was passed through his body he was pronounced dead.

The detailed confession made by Gillette was not given out, but it is understood to conform in practically every particular to the circumstantial evidence presented at the trial, when the prosecution contended that Gillette lured Grace Brown to Big Moose Lake, in the Adirondacks, rowed out to a secluded spot on the evening of July 10, 1906, killed her with a tennis racquet and cast her body into the water, where it was found the following day.

Statement by Clergymen.

Shortly after the confession was made and Gillette had been put to death the Rev. McIlravy and Chaplain Herrick, who had passed the last night with the condemned man, gave the following signed statement:

"Because our relationship with Chester Gillette was privileged we do not deem it wise to make a detailed statement, and simply wish to say that no mistake was made in his electrocution."

One of Gillette's last acts, according to Chaplain Herrick, was to defend the memory of Grace Brown. He was told last week of the fight his mother was making before Gov. Hughes for a reprieve.

Defends Her Memory.

When the story of Dow Sanderson, the "mysterious witness" who attempted to blacken the girl's character, was told him, Gillette exclaimed to Herrick and the Rev. McIlravy:

"Gentlemen, that is a lie. It is false, all of it. Grace Brown was a good girl. That story is untrue."

Gillette's final message read: "Tell mother that I am prepared to meet my God and that not a single act now stands between me and Him. Tell her that I have no hard feelings against any one, and I am very sorry for the pain and anguish that I have brought upon her and others."

Gillette entered the deathhouse at 6:12 o'clock. He was attended by the Rev. McIlvray and Chaplain Herrick, who recited the Twenty-third Psalm.

After the life tests at 6:18, Warden Benham, on a signal from Dr. Gerin, said: "Gentlemen, the man is dead."

The Rev. Mr. McIlgravy, who had been closer to Gillette than any other man, fainted as the electric current was turned on. He was supported from the room.

Prepared Statement for Public.

Last night Gillette prepared a statement which was given out by the Warden after the execution.

It was a brief expression of regret for his past life, and a warning to young men that they might profit by his experiences. It closed with a paragraph indicating that he had made a full confession:

"There is not one thing that I have left undone which will bar me from facing my God knowing that my sins are forgiven," he wrote, "for I have been free and frank in my talks with my spiritual adviser."

During the execution Gillette's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Gillette, with Chester's two sisters and brothers, were at the Salvation Army headquarters, where they were received a month ago.

Miss Katherine Gillette, the aunt, and Miss Bernice Forrin were with them.

As the time approached when they knew the execution would take place they gathered in the mother's room.

Capt. Robinson of the Salvation Army entered the room and said:

"It's over."

ILLINOIS INSTITUTION SHIPS TUBERCULOSIS CATTLE FOR BEEF

Federal Authorities Investigate Action of Heads at Asylum for Feeble-Minded.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 30.—Federal authorities were aroused today when it became known that a carload of tuberculosis affected cattle from the asylum feeble minded at Lincoln had been shipped to Chicago and placed on the market. Inspectors at the stock yards instituted a search for the animals.

D. H. G. Hardt, superintendent of the asylum, recently declared that more than half the animals in the asylum herd were afflicted with tuberculosis. The State veterinarian visited Lincoln. Of the 190 cattle in the herd fifty-two were condemned.

These were loaded on a stock train under cover of the Sabbath and shipped to Chicago. Their final destination is a mystery.

BERKMAN HELD, THEN PAROLED, IN BOMB CASE

Card With His Name Signed in Pockets of Selig Silverstein.

LETTERS NAME LEADER

Recipient Asked, for Anarchist Queen's Sake, to Do Unnamed "Work."

THROWER DENIES PLOT

Says Hatred of Police Was Sole Motive in Union Square Crime.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Alex Berkman, who served a long prison term for trying to kill Henry C. Frick and who was afterward Emma Goldman's husband, after the free love fashion of anarchists, was arrested today in connection with the fatal bomb throwing in Union Square, Saturday. He was later paroled.

A card of the Anarchists' Federated Union, bearing Berkman's signature, was found in the pocket of Selig Silverstein, the bomb thrower who was blinded and maimed by the explosion.

Detectives found Berkman at his lodging at 210 East Thirteenth street and took him before Inspector McCafferty.

The Inspector induced him to write his name, compared it with the signature on the card, pronounced the two exact counterparts and immediately decided to hold him.

Didn't Recognize Him.

Berkman's visit to Bellevue Hospital, where he was confronted with Silverstein, failed to bring any show of recognition.

As Silverstein's eyes are sightless and covered with bandages, two detectives engaged Berkman in a spirited conversation in Yiddish as the trio stood by the side of Silverstein's cot, at the same time watching the wounded man closely for any sign of movement which might indicate recognition of Berkman's voice.

Nothing of this kind occurred, and when Berkman declared positively that he never had seen Silverstein before, there was nothing to do but take him back to Police Headquarters.

When Berkman was arraigned before Magistrate Droege in the Jefferson Market Police Court, a detective asked that he be held for 48 hours on an affidavit which made no specific complaint against him. The Magistrate said he would hold Berkman only on some definite charge, and as he had none, Berkman was paroled on his promise to appear again if desired.

Eight Others Sought.

Every effort is being made to verify the theory that Silverstein was one of nine men, all armed with bombs, who were to have hurled their missiles into the police ranks, but were disconcerted by the premature explosion of the Silverstein bomb.

The puzzle of the Silverstein letters is still unsolved. One of them—signed in Berkman's name—appeals to the young anarchist in Emma Goldman's name, to execute some mission for the cause, the nature of which was not fully explained, but which is inferred to have been the Union Square dynamiting.

The Post-Dispatch correspondent has learned that Silverstein was a member of a Tolstoi literary club in "Pickleville" district of Williamsburg, Brooklyn, and that the bomb-thrower went to Union Square with eight other young men.

From Silverstein's landlady it was learned that a month ago the bomb-thrower absented himself unexpectedly for a week. When he returned, she said, his appearance was altogether changed, and he appeared as though he had passed through some ordeal. For the last three weeks, during which time he had been unemployed, he was quiet and engaged in reading. The theory upon which the Brooklyn detectives work is that Silverstein passed the week with anarchist leaders and that he was tragedy of Saturday to "a police plot." Silverstein, the confessed maker of the fatal bomb, was left to suffer in the prison ward of Bellevue with no consolation save his own hate.

Berkman Disavows Him.

Berkman was seen before his arrest by a Post-Dispatch correspondent and questioned concerning the letters which were said to be from him. He flatly denied having written to Silverstein or even that he knew the bomb-thrower. The bomb-thrower, to the surprise of everybody, most of all the Bellevue surgeons who took off his arm and removed what remained of one of his eyes, gains strength and may live to face a jury on a charge of murder. He has expressed no sorrow for his act—only regrets that he did not "kill all the policemen in Union Square."

"I never heard of Silverstein."

ROOSEVELT IS IN A MOOD TO CHASTISE CASTRO

Venezuelan Correspondence to Be Sent to Senate With Belligerent Message.

WOULD USE BIG STICK

Tampering With U. S. Mail Adds to Irritation Against South Americans.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—President Roosevelt is expected to send to the Senate today the complete correspondence and hitherto confidential reports concerning the Venezuela matter to the State Department. It is said the President will make a request for authority to use the "big stick" and punish the Venezuelan Government.

It is known that Mr. Roosevelt desires to give President Castro a lesson he is thought to need. The opening of the United States mail bags by Venezuelan authorities may become the occasion of a descent upon that country by the United States, intended to teach manners.

More Material for Fire.

It added fuel to a situation already burdened with inflammable material, and very little would be necessary to start the fire.

Mr. Russell, the American Minister at Caracas, has been instructed by cable to make a complete investigation of the matter of the tampering with the mail sent to the cruiser Tacoma, now in Venezuelan waters. On completing this inquiry, Minister Russell will board the Tacoma and return to Washington, where he will make a personal and comprehensive report of his findings.

Warships Not Far Away.

The Minister is not recalled from Venezuela in the belligerent sense of the term, and diplomatic relations have not been severed—only discontinued. He intended in any event to sail for the United States April 14, and his departure is merely hastened.

The incident, however, will let Castro know that the United States will look after its rights and protects its interests.

The six American warships now hovering around Hayti are only a few days away from Venezuela.

MYSTERIOUS WOMAN LEAVES BABY WITH HOTEL MAN'S WIFE, THEN DISAPPEARS

Told Station Agent She Was Afraid to Go Back to Her Home.

A woman of mystery handed her 3-weeks-old boy baby to Mrs. Fred Wyand, wife of the proprietor at the Bridge Hotel, Third and Lucas avenue Monday.

"Hold the baby," she said. "I will be back in a few minutes."

Mrs. Wyand still has charge of the baby and the police have been unable to find the mother.

The woman, carrying the child, registered as "Mrs. Annie Hinton and baby, city."

Sunday morning the woman left the hotel telling Mrs. Wyand that she was going to take the baby to the Bethesda Home. She returned saying that the authorities at the Bethesda Home would not take the baby.

At the Washington avenue railroad station it was learned she arrived there on a train from Edwardsville Saturday and sat in the station all day.

She told Station Agent Nelson she had no place to go in St. Louis. When he asked her why she did not return home she burst into tears and said: 'I am afraid to go back."

When she left the hotel Monday she said she was going to the station to get her valise containing clothes for the baby. No one named Annie Hinton is known in Edwardsville.

ASKED FOR APOLOGY, GOT A PUNCH ON THE NOSE

Thompson Concludes There Are Times When Man's Remarks to Lady Should Be Ignored.

George W. Thompson of 4468A Finney avenue is convinced that it is a tactical mistake to ask a gentleman to apologize to a lady when the gentleman has his crowd with him. He asked George Kohlenhoefer of St. Charles for an apology under these circumstances and got a punch in the nose.

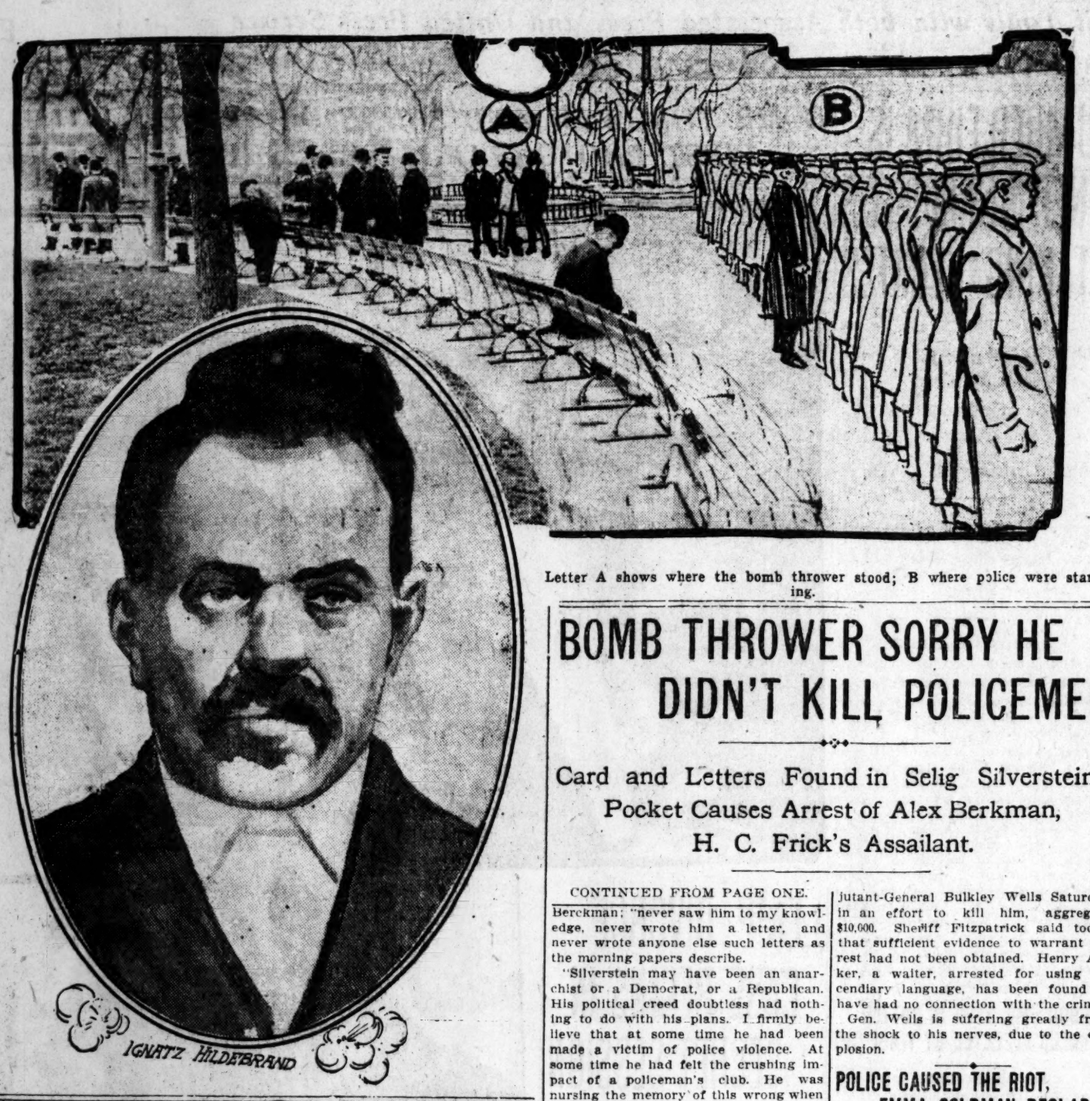

Thompson took Miss Lillie Mantz to a theater Sunday night. After the show they walked east on Easton avenue. Hugh McFarland of 4036 Easton avenue was with them. The young men met some friends and stopped to talk with them. Miss Mantz went on to the corner. Kohlenhoefer was standing there with four men. He did not know Miss Mantz, but he asked her if he could see her home. She said, "N-n-no, sir!" and went back and told Thompson about it.

"I asked the gentleman to apologize to the lady," he told Judge Pollard Tuesday, "and he gave me a punch in the nose."

Kohlenhoefer exhibited an enlarged lip to show that Thompson also had been impolite. The policeman who made the arrests said Thompson, McFarland and Kohlenhoefer were all mixed up when he arrived and Kohlenhoefer's crowd was about to participate. He arrested the three. They were fined $5 each.

Miss Mantz was a witness for Thompson. She said he was her fiance.

MAN KILLED BY ANARCHIST'S BOMB, AND DIAGRAM SHOWING HOW POLICEMEN STOOD BEFORE EXPLOSION

Letter A shows where the bomb thrower stood; B where police were standing.

BOMB THROWER SORRY HE DIDN'T KILL POLICEMEN

Card and Letters Found in Selig Silverstein's Pocket Causes Arrest of Alex Berkman, H. C. Frick's Assailant.

Berckman; "never saw him to my knowledge, never wrote him a letter, and never wrote anyone else such letters as the morning papers describe.

"Silverstein may have been an anarchist or a Democrat, or a Republican. His political creed doubtless had nothing to do with his plans. I firmly believe that at some time he had been made a victim of police violence. At some time he had felt the crushing impact of a policeman's club. He was nursing the memory of this wrong when he made this bomb. His tragic act in Union Square was an individual protest against oppression—nothing more or less."

Berckman did not hesitate to predict more bomb-throwing.

Socialists Blame Police.

While the anarchists and organized labor, as represented in the Committee of Unemployed in charge of the demonstration, repudiated Silverstein and disavowed responsibility for his crime, the General Committee of the Socialist Party passed judgment upon the Union Square incident in a long set of resolutions and appointed a committee to investigate the bomb throwing.

The committee is headed by Robert Hunter, the wealthy sociologist, who was to be the chief speaker at the Union Square demonstration. The other members are Morris Hillquist, the Socialist lawyer; Joseph Wauhope, Algernon Lee, Solomon Fieldman, Henry F. Sloboden, Thomas J. Lewis and Moses Oppenheimer, all prominent in the Socialist movement.

Silverstein's latest statement was drawn from him after he had been questioned enough to kill most men so near death as he was after the operation. Translated, it was as follows:

"My reason for making the bomb, the construction of which took three days, was because a policeman had, some weeks ago, beaten me severely with no provocation whatsoever, and from the time of the beating I resolved to get even with the police. There was no one in the scheme with me. I was all alone. I went to Union Square alone with the intention of doing as much harm to the police as I could. No one else knew about it."

Slain Man No Anarchist.

Ignatz Hildebrand, the tailor, w. o was killed by Silverstein's bomb, was no associate of the anarchist assassin. He was an unemployed tailor.

When told today that the anarchists had offered to pay for the funeral, the widow dried her tears and said:

"My husband had nothing in common with those people. He was opposed to them in life, and in death they shall have nothing to do with him. I shall bear the expense myself, and shall take care of myself."

The police are satisfied that Hildebrand had nothing to do with the throwing of the bomb, unless, as some witnesses say, he attempted to prevent Silverstein from throwing it, sacrificing his own life to save others.

POLICE CAUSED THE RIOT, EMMA GOLDMAN DECLARES

They're Always at the Bottom of Such Occurrences, She Says in Speech.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 30.—Emma Goldman, after her lecture here yesterday, discussed the Union Square bomb tragedy.

"Union Square," she said, "is the identical spot where I have lectured for the last 14 years, and where I was arrested and made to serve one year in the prison on Blackwell's Island.

"I did not know Selig Silberstein; I did not know the dead man Hildebrand. I have never heard of either of them. The report that letters from me to Silberstein were found in his room is absolutely false. I think I know my correspondents.

"You want to know who I think was at the bottom of the whole riot? The police. They do it to show their authority. Such affairs as this have been traced in many instances to the police, who grasp the opportunity to lay all blame on anarchists.

"I have communicated recently with only two people in New York City. They are Alexander Berckman and the business manager of my magazine, 'Mother Earth.' I am writing to Mr. Berckman for particulars of the Union Square affair."

BANK OF COMMERCE REOPENS WITH RIDGELY AS PRESIDENT

Confidence Shown by Long Line Waiting to Deposit Money on First Day.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 30.—The reorganized National Bank of Commerce with William B. Ridgely, former Comptroller of the Currency as its president, re-opened this morning.

Faith in this, one of the largest banking institutions in the country, was evidenced by the fact that long before the receiving teller's windows were opened, persons stood in line awaiting an opportunity to deposit their money.

President Ridgely, Edward Ridgely, cashier, and George T. Cutts, the newly elected vice-president, together with the other officials, were on hand early, and were the recipients of many congratulations.

The bank will occupy temporary quarters until its million dollar building has been completed. This will be within another month.

You Must Disinfect If You Want Health

Many diseases which appear in the spring of the year could be prevented by proper disinfection in the home.

But don't use a "Smell Destroyer." That is not a disinfectant. Use a preparation like CN Disinfectant, a non-poisonous germicide derived from coal tar creosote, recognized best for home use.

In selecting a disinfectant you should consider the following points (1) its strength as a germicide (2) it must be non-poisonous (3) must be easily applied by anyone (4) must be economical.

As CN Disinfectant stands foremost in answering all these requirements, it is used more than any other.

PORK PRICES RISE, AND BEEF REMAINS HIGH

Hog Products Jump Thirty to Fifty Per Cent in Ten Days.

In ten days the wholesale prices on pork have advanced from 30 to 50 per cent on the various grades of meat. The retail prices have advanced correspondingly.

Pork tenderloins, which could be bought wholesale week before last for 18 cents, now cost 25 cents.

Pork loins, which then cost 8 or 8½ cents, now cost 12½ cents.

Ribs and loins, which then cost 11 cents, now cost 16 cents.

The 30-per-cent advance on beef, which became apparent last week, remains.

At the National Stockyards it is said that the receipts of cattle and hogs have fallen off about 50 per cent since the first of the year and that the increase in prices is due to this.

Assuming that during the remainder of March the average daily receipts will be the same as during the days already gone, the figures given out are as follows: Hogs received during March, 179,252; during February, 296,967; during January, 305,105.

The falling off in cattle has been about 50,000 head since Jan. 1.

Both wholesale and retail dealers declare they see no prospect of relief.

VIENNA, March 30.—Count Laszlo Szechenyi and the Countess, formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, arrived in this city this morning. It is their intention to remain in Vienna for some time.

MAULL BROTHERS, ST. LOUIS, MO.

NEW EMPLOYES ARE ONLY ISSUE IN BEER STRIKE

Brewers Will Take Old Men Back, but Wish to Keep the Others.

WILL MEET STRIKERS

Chairman of Labor Committee Thinks Chance of Settlement Good.

After the brewers had held a conference at the headquarters of the St. Louis Brewing Association in the Wainwright Building, C. Norman Jones, chairman of the Labor Committee, announced at 1 p. m. Monday that a meeting would be held at 3 p. m., with representatives of the striking union employes.

"There's a good prospect for a settlement," Mr. Jones said.

It is understood the labor leaders will insist on the Labor Bureau, to fill vacancies in the ranks of union employes, which will help assure the union shop.

That the striking brewery workers are in the right was the unanimous opinion of a special committee of the Central Trades and Labor Union, which reported at a meeting of that body at Aschenbroedel Hall, 3535 Pine street, Sunday afternoon.

The report, without a dissenting vote, was approved by the 300 members of the central body.

The committee consisted of David Kreyling, Lee Woodward, A. Meyer, Joseph Jackson, Philip Hoffer and H. Staudinger.

Nearer to Settlement.

Addresses were made by Joseph S. Proebstle, secretary of the International Union of Brewery Workers, and Joseph Fessner, secretary of the local union.

The committee said another conference with the brewers would be held Monday, and that practically only one issue remains to be settled.

This is whether the breweries are to be permitted to retain the men whom it employed to take the places of the strikers.

The committee stated that, in its opinion, the only other important issue was eliminated Saturday, when the International Union served official notice on the brewers that the charter of the Priestersbach union of brewery drivers had been revoked.

Contracts Are Released.

It was the opinion of those at the meeting that this action fixes the status of the Priestersbach men as nonunion workers. One of the points made by the employers throughout the negotiations was that the Priestersbach faction constituted the original union with whom the brewers made a contract. The committee believes that the revocation of the charter releases the brewers from their contract with Priestersbach's men.

The committee recommended that all union men in St. Louis be asked to refrain from drinking beer made at breweries affected by the strike. In view of the possibility of a settlement, action on this was defeated until after a special meeting of the Central Trades and Labor Union, which will be held at 8 p. m. Monday.

At that time the committee will report the progress made during the day, and if the strike is not settled, negotiations will be called off.

Strikers Can Come Back.

A conference between the brewers to consider the situation began at noon Monday at the headquarters of the St. Louis Brewing Association in the Wainwright Building, but it was said that no time had been set for a meeting between the brewers and representatives of the strikers.

C. Norman Jones, who has represented the employers in the negotiations, says the brewers are ready to take back the men who walked out.

"All that we now desire," he said, "is to keep the men who served us in time of trouble, whom we promised to take care of."

POLICE EXPENSES INCREASE

Department Will Cost City $2,200,000 Next Fiscal Year.

The Police Department will cost the city of St. Louis something like $2,200,000 during the fiscal year beginning April 1. The Board of Police Commissioners, in executive session Monday afternoon, is figuring just how much money it will need to run the department until April, 1909, and a rough, unofficial, estimate brings the amount up to the figures quoted above.

Last year the department's appropriation amounted to $1,800,000, of which all but about $500 was expended. Since then the membership of the department has been increased by 300 patrolmen, 30 sergeants, two captains and two lieutenants, which increase adds $200,000 to the annual payroll.

The cost of a new station and patrol house, which are to be erected at Page and Union avenues, will also be included in the next appropriation.

WOMAN HELD, INCENDIARY SAYS SHE HIRED HIM

Negro Porter Found Saturating Furniture; Mrs. Parker Is Arrested.

SPENDS NIGHT AWAY

Firebug Declares Woman Lost in Venture and Sought Insurance.

Mrs. M. H. Parker, proprietor of a rooming house at 2624 Washington avenue, was arrested when she returned to the place at 9 a. m. Monday morning, after spending the night in East St. Louis, and will be held while the police investigate the statement of Albert Wilson, her negro porter, that she hired him to set fire to the house she occupied.

Wilson was arrested at 1 a. m. Monday as he was saturating the furniture of the house with coal oil.

Police Stop the Negro.

He says Mrs. Parker employed him to burn the house and fixed 2 a. m. Monday as the time to apply the match. Wilson says he would have done so, had not the police interfered.

Mrs. Parker, who is locked up at the Manchester Avenue Station, denies in a general way that she ordered the house set on fire, but indignantly refuses to discuss the details of the negro's story.

She is a tall, stately woman, apparently 40 years old, who talks with a marked Southern accent, and who says she came to St. Louis six months ago from Cotton Plant, Ark.

According to Wilson, Mrs. Parker was losing money in the conduct of the rooming house and concluded a fire would be a good thing, as the furniture was insured for $2000.

Wilson says Mrs. Parker suggested the house-burning to him about three weeks ago, after first asking him if he would be afraid to undertake the work. Wilson says he replied that he wouldn't be "askeered," and he would do it, as he needed money, but he would not want to do it when there was anybody at home.

Mrs. Parker planned to have everybody in the house out Sunday night, Wilson says, and then to convert the furniture into ashes.

There were three regular roomers in the house—Joe Koewalski and two young women—Viola Adams and Stella Miles. Mrs. Parker took Miss Adams to East St. Louis, Sunday afternoon.

Koewalski, Stella Miles and another man found Wilson spreading the oil when they entered the house at midnight, after obtaining a key in the neighborhood. Wilson told his story, Koewalski took his companions away and returned with Sergt. Smith and Policemen Nally, Bentley and Dundon, who arrested the negro. Viola Adams and Eunice Clayton were arrested as they reached the rooming house, Monday morning, shortly after Mrs. Parker was taken. The girls were released by Acting Capt. Hickman of the Manchester Avenue Station. Miss Adams said she heard Mrs. Parker remark in East St. Louis that "if the house burned, her furniture was insured."

Guy H. Boren, said to be a friend of Mrs. Parker, also was arrested.

CO-ED FORGER PLEADS GUILTY; MUST SERVE 10 DAYS IN JAIL

Seven Complaining Witnesses Plead for Her Release, but Judge Is Obdurate.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Estelle Taylor of Galesburg, Ill., who was arrested several months ago on the charge of passing forged checks, today pleaded guilty to obtaining money by false pretenses and was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail.

The sentence was imposed by Judge Kersten in spite of the request of the seven complaining witnesses that she be released.

Miss Taylor graduated from the law department of the University of Minnesota. She passed a number of forged checks last winter while attending the Northwestern University at Evanston.

WOMAN AND GIRL UNCONSCIOUS AS GAS FILLS ROOM

Brother Discovers Mother and Daughter on Bed Fully Dressed.

SCOUT SUICIDE THEORY

Says Sister Never Threatened to End Life—Victims at Hospital.

Mrs. Mary Kinsella and her 12-year-old daughter, Mary, were found unconscious from gas early Monday at 1510 Whittier street, and are in a critical condition at the City Hospital. The police are trying to ascertain if Mrs. Kinsella endeavored to end her own life and her child's, or whether it was accidental.

John Lanham, Mrs. Kinsella's brother, found her and the girl lying fully dressed on the bed in their room when he returned at 3 a. m., after spending Sunday in East St. Louis.

Finds Gas Turned On.

The gas in the front room, which he used as a cobbler's shop, was turned on fully. There is no gas jet in the rear room. The partition between the two does not run to the ceiling, and the door in it was open.

All the other doors and windows were tightly closed. Lanham threw open a window and summoned Patrolman Slavin of the Deer Street Station.

He told Slavin he and his sister and niece lived together in the two small rooms, and that they had difficulty in making his earnings as cobbler support them, but that he did not know whether Mrs. Kinsella had tired of the life and determined to end it.

Never Threatened Suicide.

No note was found, and Mrs. Kinsella had never threatened suicide, her brother said.

Mrs. Kinsella, in a lucid moment Monday afternoon, declared that the gas jet had been accidentally turned on, though she could not explain how.

William Murphy, who has a restaurant next door, says he smelled gas at 8 p. m. Sunday, but could find none escaping in his place and did not think to look further.

The police think Mrs. Kinsella and her daughter inhaled the gas from that time until they were found.

MINERS DIE IN SECOND BLAST, AFTER WIRING KIN OF SAFETY

71 Believed Doomed in Wyoming Shaft, Still Afire—Five Bodies Taken Out.

HANNA, Wyo., March 30.—Hope was finally abandoned today of saving the lives of any of the 71 men entombed in the explosion in the wrecked and still burning Hanna coal mine here.

It is impossible at present even to enter the workings. Five bodies were taken from the colliery before the fire drove the last party of rescuers out.

Far greater damage was wrought by the second than by the first explosion. The former caught only twenty-one men.

Of the 50 who perished by the second blast, many had already sent telegrams to relatives, giving assurances of their safety, and then entered the mine with the relief crew. The two explosions practically destroyed the working force of the three mines here, from superintendents to gas watchers. Little more rescue work can be done until miners are brought in from other towns.

SUES MOTHER-IN-LAW, WINS

Mrs. Annie Holste triumphed over her mother-in-law Monday in Judge Taylor's court, when she got a judgment for an annuity of $144 under the will of her father-in-law, Fred Holste.

Mrs. Dora Holste, the mother-in-law, discontinued payment of the annuity when Fred Holste Jr., Mrs. Annie Holste's husband, died April, 1906. The daughter-in-law proved that the will read that the annuity would be paid during Mrs. Dora Holste's life, and the mother-in-law was ordered to make the back payments in a lump sum.

LAWYER FINDS POLICEMAN NOT UP ON POKER

Officer Confuses "Straights" and "Flushes," but Comrade Qualifies as Expert.

Policeman Carmody of the Dayton Street District needs to read up on the poker manual. Monday he testified about helping Sergt. Collins and Policemen Hines, Womack and Slanger raid a game at 2634 Baldwin street, where 13 players were arrested. Tom Stanton, who defended the accused in Judge Pollard's court, insinuated that Carmody did not know the difference between craps and poker.

The look on Carmody's face said "try me" as plain as anything.

"What's a flush?" asked Stanton.

"Five cards after one another—one, two, three, four, five—like that," said Carmody.

"What's a straight?'

"Five cards of the same suit."

The men taken in the raid had to stuff their fists into their mouths to keep from getting in contempt of court.

Questions about a royal flush and a full house dazed the witness and when Stanton asked him what was the difference between hearts and poker he gave it up.

Judge Pollard said he was glad Carmody knew so little about the game.

Hines did better. Stanton found out pretty quick that Hines was a journeyman. "Have you ever played poker?" he asked. "Sure," said Hines, "lots of times, for money."

Owen Buckner and Jake Arthur were fined $10 each. The cases against the others were dismissed.

WOMAN HAD NO CHANGE, CONDUCTOR TELLS HER TO PAY NEXT CAR SHE BOARDS

Gives Name and Badge Number and Says Amount Will Be Credited to Him.

After a woman passenger boarded a Page car Monday she found to her dismay that she had nothing smaller than a $10 bill. When Conductor No. 1443 called for her fare she opened her purse, showing two bills and a penny.

The conductor couldn't make the change, and said he did not expect to be able to do so before reaching the downtown loop. He left the woman's seat, and returned presently with one of the envelopes provided for transfer slips. On it he had written the number of the line and of the car, his name, Ira C. Hocker, and his badge number.

"If you will just put 5 cents into that," he told the passenger, "and give it to the conductor of the next Page car you get on, it will be credited to me. I have already rung up your fare."

The woman was struck with the conductor's ingenuity and with his courtesy. She complied with his request.

General Manager McCulloch says conductors are under no instructions as to what they shall do when unable to make change for a passenger. They are expected to use their best judgment. The device used in the woman passenger's case will be approved, Capt. McCulloch says.

"I don' think a passenger ought to give a conductor a $10 or even a $5 bill," Capt. McCulloch said. "It isn't safe for him to carry that much money."

MERAMEC STILL HOLDS BODY OF BABY'S MOTHER

Wagon Overturns in Current and Woman Seeks to Save Infant.

The treacherous Meramec River has not yet given up the body of Mrs. Henry Gildehass, who sacrificed her life in an effort to save her 3-months-old baby at the Whittington ford, near Pacific, Mo.

When the swift current overturned the wagon in which she was riding across the stream with her husband, her 3-year-old daughter, Elvira, her baby and John Volz, a farmhand, Mrs. Gildehass, who was a good swimmer, held the baby at arm's length above her head to prevent it from being drowned.

Had she dropped the child she could have reached the shore in safety, but mother love was stronger than the instinct of self-preservation.

Too Weak to Hold Child.

But her sacrifice was in vain. When she sank for the third time she was so weak that the current swept the child from her grasp and mother and baby went to death together.

An hour before the baby had been christened by the Rev. Father Ginger of St. Bridget's Church at Pacific. They drove into the town from their farm, two miles away.

When they crossed the river the current was no swifter than usual, but in the three hours they remained in Pacific the water rose rapidly, and when they returned the rocks which marked the ford were not visible.

Volz held the lines. He urged the team of mules into the water, and they were halfway across when the wagon turned over.

Theodore Stoelzner and George Roemer were fishing near the ford. They heard Mrs. Gildehass scream and looking up they saw her holding the baby high above her head. Her husband, her daughter, and the farmhand were in the water and the current was rapidly carrying them down stream.

Fishermen Rescue Three.

The fishermen jumped into a skiff and went to the rescue. They reached Volz first. He caught hold of an oar. As he was being pulled to the boat the head of little Elvira appeared above the surface within reach of his arm. Volz caught her by the hair and she was rescued with him. Then Gildehass was pulled into the boat.

When the men reached the deep water where Mrs. Gildehass was struggling to save her child, she was going down for the last time.

The baby, torn from her grasp by the current, sank with her. Its body was recovered.

ALTON WOMAN COOKS MEAL AND SHOOTS SELF

Spinster Puts House in Order Before She Ends Her Life.

WORRIED BY DEAFNESS

Relatives Returning From Church Find Dinner Ready, Housekeeper Dead.

Miss Annie Horn prepared a good Sunday dinner for the family of her brother, carried in the kindling for the Monday morning fire and put the house in order, then lay down on her bed and shot herself. When her relatives came home from church they found the table set and the steaming viands on the stove. They looked for Miss Horn and found her dead.

Miss Horn was 58 years old. Up to a week ago she had been housekeeper for different Alton families. Then she went to visit the family of her brother, Louis Horn, at Brighton, 14 miles north of Alton.

She was depressed over the gradual loss of her hearing, due to an injury 10 years ago, when she was thrown out of a wagon during a runaway.

Volunteered to Get Dinner.

Sunday morning she insisted that Mr. and Mrs. Horn go to church, volunteering to put the house in order and get dinner. They went, and when they returned at noon they found everything in readiness for the meal, but Miss Horn was not visible and she did not respond to their calls.

Going into her bedroom, they found her lying on her bed. She had shot herself in the right temple. Her brother's revolver was in her right hand.

By her side was a satchel containing papers relating to some property she owned, and a note in which she said that she was tired of living because of her increasing deafness.

Thoughtful to the Last.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn found that Miss Horn had been so thoughtful to the last that she had attended to every detail of the household and had even taken the pains to bring in a basket of kindling.

The only untidiness was about the dresser of Mr. Horn. She had disarranged the contents in looking for his revolver and did not stop to put things in their former order.

NIPS DIAMOND STUD ON CAR, FLEES TO HAYLOFT, CAUGHT

Victim of Eads Bridge Robbery Gives Chase and Is Aided by Policemen.

Herbert Wilson, 23 years old, a prisoner at the Carr Street Station, has admitted that he nipped a diamond stud from the shirt front of Harry T. Cramer of 4519 Eager road, on an Eads Bridge car Sunday afternoon.

Suspecting Wilson and his companions, Cramer, after noticing his loss, tried to hold them on a car until he could notify a policeman. Two jumped from the car, but Cramer kept his eye on Wilson and pursued him when he leaped off after the car stopped. Policemen joined in the chase and fired several shots at Wilson. He fled to a hayloft at 407 North Main street, where he was captured. The diamond stud was found lying between two bales of hay.

FINE OLD IRISH RULER IS 'KING CASEY' AT GRAND

Johnny Ray Makes Him Wear the Crown at a Diverting Angle.

AN ISLAND MONARCH

But It's Lalla Pa Zaza, Not Erin, Whose Throne He Occupies.

JOHNNY RAY has been funny along plebeian lines for many seasons past, but now he's royally funny, because his Casey, who was a janitor last year, is "King Casey" at the Grand this week, making his appearance last night as the side-splitting monarch of the Island of Lalla Pa Zaza, a fantastic realm born of Aaron Hoffman's whimsical imagination.

An audience that packed Manager Fleming's big playhouse to its fullest capacity saw Casey in all his majesty at the opening performance and mightily approved of him. Its behavior was very much like that of the subjects of the merry old King of Yvetot, as sung by Thackeray, who hailed that famous crowned head with shouts of laughter, chanting with affectionate regard whenever he came among them—"Ha-ha-ha and he-he-he! That's the sort of a king for me!"

A Fine Old Irish King Is Casey.

And it was all because Johnny Ray becomes a king without ceasing to be an Irishman of the homely type dear to the hearts of the multitude. The story of the play makes a sort of "even break" for Casey—in the first act he's merely the blundering old happy-go-lucky fireman at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, and it's only in the second act that he takes his long-lost twin brother's place as King of Lalla Pa Zaza, but even then he remains Casey, much to the delight of his established following. They wouldn't "swop" Casey for all the Kings in the world, you know.

Johnny Ray knows it, too, wherefore he's a regular Mrs. Micawber in refusing to desert Casey under any conditions. The only change he essays is to make that familiar character increasingly funny each successive season. Thus far he has succeeded in this cumulative sequence—King Casey now goes on record as the most absurdly irresistible of all the Caseys thus far brought into ridiculous being.

The "Makings" of Casey.

It's the mirthful ear-to-ear split of the Johnny Ray mouth, the rib-tickling little Irish shout of the Johnny Ray lungs at critical moments of Casey's life, the never-failing richness of the Johnny Ray brogue and the perplexed and puzzled backward kick of the right leg of Johnny Ray that does the business—these are the essential things of Casey's being and they never fail to bring down the house. Back of them, however, is a genuine wholesome comedy studied from real life—Casey is a sound-hearted old Irishman as full of native wit and an accidental sort of wisdom as an egg is of meat, and the touch of naturalness is felt through all the texture of burlesque. He deserves every laugh he gets—and last night the laughs were countless.

Emma Ray and the supporting company gave the star a good support, there's much catchy singing, a lot of graceful dancing and some pretty stage pictures presented, but Casey is the whole show in spite of these reinforcements. The attraction is one of the best offered at the Grand this season.

WRONG PRISONER GIVEN FREEDOM

Men Bear Same Names, but One Is Just Beginning Sentence.

PARIS, March 30.—At Grenoble the prison warders have by mistake liberated one prisoner whom they should have kept, and detained another whom should have been given his freedom. There happened to be two men called Jouret in the prison. One was only beginning to serve a long term, and the other had finished him. The first Jouret was surprised one morning at receiving the visit of the chief warder, and being told that he was free. Naturally, he had no objection, and made away as fast as he could.

The other Jouret, meanwhile, was wondering why he was kept over his time. He timidly complained, and was told to desist, but, feeling that he was being wronged, he continued to protest, when the error was at last discovered. He was at once liberated with apologies, but the other Jouret was no longer to be found, though all the police were sent after him.

The prison keepers got so confused at this that they made another mistake. They had two other men of the same name, each called Martin. The trial of one of the Martins was to begin, and they sent the wrong man to the court. The second mistake, however, was easily repaired.

TRADES UNTIL HE IS NAKED

Man Then Borrows Barrel and Goes Home.

TAUNTON, Mass., March 30.—L. C. Scrivens met a dozen traveling traders on the outskirts of the town. They wanted to swap horses, and he started in.

From horses down to clothes they traded, and when they got through Scrivens went to a neighboring house and borrowed an empty barrel to clothe his nakedness for the two-mile walk through town to the Police Station.

After Scrivens told his tale the police fitted him out with blue clothes to get home, and then they went down and arrested the traders. They recovered for Scrivens a horse, a watch, $15 in money and all the clothes that a man wears.

HUSBAND GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE WIFE; DESPERATE OPERATION OF NO AVAIL

Honduran Consul-General to New York in Dangerous Condition After Transfusion.

NEW YORK, March 30.—With the hope of saving the life of his wife, Emilia, Dr. Louis de Lazo, Counsel-General of Honduras in New York, gave his own blood, submitting to the rare operation of transfusion. The desperate expedient failed, however, and the woman, who was 29 years old, died yesterday in the French Hospital.

Her husband is seriously ill, both from the effects of the operation and the shock of his wife's death. Despite her youth, Mrs. De Lazo was the mother of five children and her health had not been robust for a long time.

The operation was performed last Wednesday in the presence of a dozen surgeons. An artery in Dr. De Lazo's arm was severed and a like incision was made in the arm of his wife. Then both limbs were bound tightly together in order that the transfusion should take place.

Following the operation there was an apparent improvement in Mrs. De Lazo's condition, and it was said that the experiment had proved a success, but an unlooked for complication arose when pneumonia set in and she gradually sank until death came. The body will be taken to Guatemala for burial.

WARD M'ALLISTER'S SON NEAR DEATH IN HOSPITAL

Namesake of New York's Famous Social Leader Undergoes Operation in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Although he was still in a very serious condition, reports last night stated that Judge Ward McAllister, son of the famous social leader in New York, who was recently operated on for appendicitis at the Cottage Hospital in San Rafael, had a slight chance for recovery.

Supervisor Hall McAllister, a relative, declared yesterday that Ward McAllister has never been in any want and is in regular receipt of an income from his mother.

Try This for Constipation.

Constipation prevails in almost every family. Old and young suffer alike. The matron of a great New York hospital confidently states that the following has been used for years with the utmost success, treating thousands, old and young, for acute and chronic constipation: Compound Essence Cardiol, 1 ounce, Aromatic Fluid Cascara, 1 ounce, Aromatic Syrup Rhubarb, 2 ounces.

Dose—One-half to one teaspoonful after each meal. Children less, according to age.

Get the ingredients at any well-stocked drugstore, mix them and find instant relief, and a permanent cure.

RAILROADS TO RENEW WAR ON TWO-CENT LAW

Decision to Reopen Injunction Proceedings Reached at St. Louis Meeting.

Injunction proceedings to prevent the further operation of the 2-cent fare law in this State are to be renewed before Federal Judge McPherson at Kansas City as a result of the conference of the general solicitors of all Missouri lines Monday at the offices of A. G. Cochran, vice-president and general solicitor of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain system.

At the meeting the opinion was expressed that every Missouri road would show a radical decrease of revenue since the new law went into effect, June 17, 1907.

The reports submitted by the auditing departments show that ten Missouri roads have suffered an aggregate loss in passenger revenue of $3,000,000 during the past six months.

Hadley's Contention.

Attorney-General Hadley contends that this decline is due to the natural traffic recession, every line of trade and transportation being similarly affected.

Mr. Cochran presided at Monday's conference, which was attended by James L. Minnis, representing the Wabash; Thomas R. Morrow, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe; Frank Hagermann, Missouri, Kansas & Texas; Judge O. M. Spencer, Burlington Route, and W. F. Evans of the St. Louis & San Francisco, and others.

Mr. Hagermann said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the railroads felt greatly encouraged over the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Minnesota case.

Given 90 Days' Trial.

"When the 2-cent law was originally considered," said Attorney Hagermann, "Judge McPherson, at the instance of the railroads and the State authorities, suspended an injunction pending a 90-day trial of the rate. At the end of that period the railroads were not ready to submit their case, but the motion for an injunction can be made at any time.

"I do not know that at any time the railroads had abandoned their intention to contest the 2-cent law. It was simply a question of waiting until the figures could be obtained to demonstrate whether it is equitable."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN VIEW SOLDAN'S FACE

Dead School Superintendent Lay in State Guarded by High School Cadets.

MANY TEARS ARE SHED

Long Program Arranged for Funeral of Educator This Afternoon.

Thousands of school children paid tribute Monday to the memory of their beloved superintendent, F. Louis Soldan, as his body lay in State at the Central High School.

Youngsters, too small even when they stood on tiptoe, to see into the big basket were lifted up by principals and teachers who stood in readiness for that service, and were allowed to look at the features of the dead educator. Many of them were in tears when they departed.

The children began congregating in front of the school at 9:30 a. m., and when the hearse bearing the casket arrived at 10 a. m., 2000 were waiting.

High School Cadets on Guard.

The children formed in line when the doors were thrown open and marched slowly, with solemn faces, down to the bier and out at the side doors. Many were accompanied by their parents. Their emotion showed how deeply Prof. Soldan's loss is deplored.

The casket, embowered in handsome cut flowers, was placed in the south corridor, and the children marched in a double line, dividing in passing it. Many took their only little floral tributes, and dropped them on the coffin. It was estimated that 9000 persons viewed the body before the doors were locked at noon.

The High School Cadets were on guard over the body. The main auditorium is decorated in crepe, palms and potted flowers.

At 2 p. m. the following program was rendered:

Prelude, "Asa's [illegible]th," Grieg, Anton Quintet; introductory address, Dr. Frank L. Magoon; "Crossing the Bar," Liddle, Anton Quintet; address in behalf of the Board of Education, Dr. Calvin M. Woodward; "In Memoriam," Tschaikowski, Second Baptist Church Quartet; address on behalf of the general public, Edward C. Eliot; "Lead, Kindly Light," Dudley Buck; "It Is Ordained," Second Baptist Church Quartet.

Turnvereins to Form Outside.

The German Turnvereins will form outside the building when the program is completed, and the body will be carried through their ranks. At Bellefontaine Cemetery the body will be placed in a receiving vault, and Prof. Peter Herzog, principal of the Blair School, will deliver an address. The Liederkranz choir will sing.

That the school children subscribe for a monument to be placed over Supt. Soldan's grave is the suggestion in a letter to the Post-Dispatch Monday of Nadia Holz of the Shaw School. "Don't you think it would be a splendid idea?" she asks.

A delegation of school teachers from Belleville, where Prof. Soldan often lectured, will attend the funeral. City Supt. George H. Busiek will head it.

Resolutions of sympathy were adopted Sunday at a special meeting of the Wellston School Board and were signed by Charles H. Becker, president; A. C. Mahaffy, D. C. Thomson, A. L. Rutledge, George F. Willoughby, the Rev. Irl R. Hicks and Supt. Ernest F. Bush, who comprise the board.

Resolutions were also adopted by the St. Louis branch and the Missouri branch of the National German-American Alliance.

Memorial Service Sunday.

Memorial services for Supt. Soldan will be held next Sunday at Shaare Emeth Temple. Speeches will be delivered by Fred W. Lehmann, Elias Michael and Rabbi Leon Harrison.

The Executive Committee of the St. Louis Bezirksvorort adopted resolutions of condolence at a meeting Sunday evening.

NICKELS AND PICKLES COST TWO MEN A $5 FINE APIECE

Grocer Swung on Man Who Lifted Two "Samples" From a Barrel.

Nickels and pickles figured in the dispute which cost Oscar Stein of 3923 Lee avenue and Ben Surkamp of 1512 Kienlen avenue a $5 fine each in the Dayton Street Police Court, Monday.

Surkamp owned the pickles. Stein visited Surkamp's grocery Saturday and in passing out took two pickles from a barrel. Surkamp demanded a nickel for them.

"No nickel from me," Stein replied. "I didn't buy any pickles. I took only two samples."

An argument followed, and the grocer hit Stein. Surkamp said in court that the pickles were a foot long and were not "samples."

PANIC KILLED REPUBLICAN CRY, BRYAN DECLARES

Argument That Financial Troubles Are Exclusively Democratic Untruthful.

"EMPTY DINNER PAILS"

Nothing to Say About His Own Prospects for Nomination.

William Jennings Bryan, candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, told a Post-Dispatch reporter at Union Station Monday morning that the recent "panic" robbed the Republicans of one of their most effective campaign arguments. Mr. Bryan said it could no longer be declared on the stump that panics and empty dinner pails were the result of Democratic administrations.

Mr. Bryan declined to discuss his candidacy for the presidency or to express himself regarding the presidential boom of Gov. Johnson of Minnesota. He was equally reticent as to the Folk-Stone fight for the United States senatorship in Missouri.

Knows Nothing About Missouri.

"I suppose," said Mr. Bryan, "that Gov. Johnson of Minnesota is like many other American citizens. He would like to have the Democratic nomination for President, if he could get it.

"I do not know anything about political conditions in Missouri. I have not kept track of the senatorial contest between Gov. Folk and Senator Stone, and do not know anything about it. 'Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise.'

"The financial depression has robbed the Republican party of one of its most effective campaign arguments. The Republicans have been telling us all the time that panics could not happen under Republican administrations, but only when the Democrats were in power. I suspect, too, there are a good many empty dinner pails.

Argument Fraudulent.

"The empty dinner pail has been used as an argument against Democratic policies. Of course the Republican argument on panics and empty dinner pails was fraudulent. The recent panic, I suspect, will put an effective stop to this kind of campaigning.

"I have nothing to say about my own prospects for the Democratic nomination. I suppose the Democrats will select their own candidate, and whoever is selected will satisfy me. I am going up to Kansas City to make a Democratic speech, but I have hardly thought of what I shall say. All that I know now is that it will be a Democratic speech."

Leaves in Goltra's Car.

The Nebraska statesman got into Union Station at 7 a. m. from Vincennes, Ind., where he addressed the Young Men's Christian Association Sunday. He was on his way to Kansas City to speak before the Young Men's Democratic Club Monday night.

Mr. Bryan was met at the station by Col. Moses Wetmore, Harry B. Hawes, Edward F. Goltra and C. D. McLure. The party had breakfast in the dining room of the Terminal Hotel.

Mr. Bryan, accompanied by Mr. Goltra, Mr. Wetmore and Mr. McLure, departed for Kansas City at 9:07 a. m. The party occupied Mr. Goltra's private car, which was attached to the Burlington-Alton Kansas City train.

THERE IS NO SECRET

About Our Cod Liver Preparation—Vinol.

So many patent medicines and advertised cures are now offered to the public that we want to call the special attention of the people of St. Louis to the fact that Vinol is not in any sense a secret or patent medicine.

For centuries medical men the world over have recognized the great tonic and curative elements contained in the cod's livers, but how to extract these medicinal elements from the useless and repulsive oil which enveloped them has been the problem hitherto unsolved.

This was finally accomplished by two eminent French chemists, and the result is Vinol, a delicious modern cod liver preparation without oil, made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, thus combining with peptonate of iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a body-builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness and for Chronic Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled. Try it on our offer to return money if it fails to give satisfaction.—Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo.

FOR YOUR SUNDAY DINNER

Dissolve the JELL-O in a pint of boiling water. When cool and just commencing to thicken stir in the figs and nuts. Serve with Whipped Cream. Delicious. The walnuts, figs and JELL-O can be bought at any good grocery. This makes enough dessert for a large family and is very economical.

RED-HEADED FOREIGNER TEARS DOWN OLD GLORY

Students at Western Military Academy Form Posse to Capture Daring Vandal, Who Flees to Woods and Successfully Eludes Pursuit.

By Our Own Enterprising Nature Faker Correspondent Back on the Job.

ALTON, Ill., March 28.—Melanerpes Erythrocephalus, a red-headed foreigner, is a traitor to the United States Government. He sneaked into the camp of the Western Military Academy near here and hauled down the stars and stripes.

The commandant has issued a general order for his capture and if he is brought in he will be summarily dealt with. Only the fact that the country is not now engaged in war will cause his life to be spared, but he will probably be deported.

Melanerpes has been hanging around the academy reservation for more than a week, but he was regarded as a friend and no extra precautions were taken to guard against a treasonable act.

Believed He Was a "Knocker."

Many of the cadets who watched him believed that he was a "knocker," but as he was not openly offensive they did not molest him.

Further observation led to the belief that he was an entomologist, as he spent most of his time hunting bugs, occasionally climbing trees in search of rare insect specimens.

All efforts to approach him were in vain. When he saw anyone approaching he would scurry away to the woods. Though red-headed he was not sociable.

At guard mount Friday Melanerpes was seen hanging about the campus. He clung to the side of a tall sycamore and watched Old Glory as it was unfurled to the morning breeze. Some of the cadets thought they saw a contemptuous twinkle in his eye, and they were for chasing him away, but were restrained by their superiors.

Works While Boys Recite.

When the young soldiers had cleared the campus and gone to their study rooms, Melanerpes stealthily climbed the flagpole. Sounds of intermittent knocking were heard, but no attention was paid to them. An hour later the officer of the day rushed into the commandant's office and said: "Sir, I have to report that the flag has been pulled down. That red head did it, I think, sir."

A detail found that a hole had been bored in the pole near the top, causing the iron ring that held the flag halyards to fall to the ground.

The cadets are busy repairing the pole and they say that if ever they see another woodpecker around the campus they'll chase it a mile.

SOLD ART TO DEFEND DIVORCE SUIT; ROBBED

Alexander, Whose Wife Ran Away With London Attorney, Loses Big Sum.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1908, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

PARIS, March 30.—Henry Addison Alexander, whose beautiful wife eloped with William Graham Blakiston, a London attorney, was drugged and robbed on a train between Paris and Marseilles, while the former counsellor to the United States embassy at Paris was on his way to Toulon to defend the suit brought by his wife to have a receiver appointed for as much of her property as is in his hands, their common possession under French law.

Mr. Alexander, it is understood, has quarreled with his relatives, prominent New Yorkers. His father founded the law firm of Alexander & Green there. So lack of money forced him to sell the paintings and other works of art which adorn his villa, Marie de Lyons, at Hyeres, near Toulon. He disposed of the art objects by auction.

Suffered a Broken Shoulder.

With a large sum of money, Mr. Alexander, who is 67 years old, started for Toulon. Full particulars of the robbery have not been received here yet, but Mr. Alexander reached Marseilles with a broken shoulder and injured knee cap. Besides his money, his father's watch, which he carried and valued most highly, was stolen, or, as he put it:

"When I entered the court my family Bible and my six-shooter were all I had in the world."

Mr. Alexander, a graduate of Princeton University and of Columbia law school, is noted for his knowledge of international civil law, and was so well able to defend his wife's suit for a receiver that the court declared in his favor. He is still prosecuting his suit for divorce. It is being heard at Toulon. In it he names as co-respondents Blakiston, who was his guest when he ran away with Mrs. Alexander, and John Aspinal Hodge, a lawyer of New York. Mr. Alexander has sworn in the suit that he found a number of very affectionate letters which Mr. Hodge, an old friend of his, wrote to Mrs. Alexander before she eloped.

TAFT LEADERS CLAIM GAINS; OPPONENTS DISPUTE FIGURES

Statement Says Secretary's Managers Overestimate Strength in Delegates at This Time.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Secretary Taft's campaign managers assert he now has 194 delegates instructed for him, a gain of 20 during the past week. Eight of the 20 are contested. Up to this time 264 delegates in a total of 980 have been chosen. It is computed by his supporters that Secretary Taft already has 40 per cent of the 491 votes necessary to give him victory.

Representatives of the opposition to Taft gave out this statement:

"The delegates thus far chosen are distributed as follows: Taft, 130; Fairbanks, 26; Foraker, 23; Cannon, 22; uninstructed, 32; contested, 42; the showing of the opposition increasing from 84 to 126 during the past week. It is now believed by representatives of the field that their estimate of a possible 250 votes for Secretary Taft in the Chicago Convention should be considerably reduced."

Kills Self When Sister Dies.

NEW YORK, March 30.—On the eve of her expected departure to visit her sister in England, Miss Olive Trearin of New Rochelle received a cablegram announcing that her sister had died. She swallowed the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid, and died before a physician could reach her.

GIRL HELPS FOOTPAD FOR FEAR HE WILL KILL ESCORT

Searches Pockets of Man With Her and Gives His Purse to Masked Robber.

Miss Nettie Teich, 520 Hall place, to save her escort's life Sunday night, took a wallet containing $7 from his pocket.

John Pekarek of 1603 Picker street and Miss Teich were on their way home from a theater. When they reached a dark hallway adjoining the Teich residence at 11:30 p. m., a masked man carrying a revolver stepped in front of them.

"Throw up your hands," commanded the robber, pointing his revolver at Pekarek.

Pekarek hesitated, but at the request of Miss Teich, who was trembling with fear, he finally elevated his hands.

"See what he's got," ordered the bandit, turning to Miss Teich.

Too frightened to refuse, the young woman searched her escort's pockets and handed his wallet over to the robber. The latter pocketed it and backed through the hallway.

Pekarek went into Miss Teich's home, procured a revolver and went in search of the highwayman, but didn't find him.

MAN LOOKING FOR MORGAN SEIZED BY POLICEMAN IN DOORWAY OF HIS MANSION

Fear of Bomb Causes Arrest of Man Who Says He Sought Job.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 30.—A man in shabby clothes paced up and down before J. Pierpont Morgan's house at Madison avenue and Thirty-sixth street last night. Then he went into the vestibule and lighted three or four matches. Patrolman Hampshire, watching him, thought of Saturday's doings in Union Square and of the letters the bomb-thrower had written about millionaires.

Nightstick in hand, the patrolman hurried into the vestibule and commanded the man to hold up his hands. The man did so.

Hampshire seized him, searched him, to make sure he had no weapon or bomb, before ringing the doorbell, and asked the butler if he had ever seen the visitor.

"Yes, he was here a couple of hours ago," answered the butler. "He said he must see Mr. Morgan; that he wanted to be employed by Mr. Morgan. I told him to go away, that Mr. Morgan is in Europe."

At the Police Station the prisoner said he is Robert William Tusheller, 40 years old, born in South Africa, a sailor and known aboardship as Robert Williams. He said he lived at a sailor's boarding house; that he is stranded and had hoped Mr. Morgan would give him employment. A very small nickel-plated tube and two vials of colorless liquid, which the police regarded with great suspicion, were in his pocket. It was decided that the tube was part of a hypodermic syringe, and that the vials contained a solution of morphia. It was decided also that Tusheller was a morphine fiend.

He was charged with disorderly conduct and locked up.

JAPAN WOULDN'T CONSIDER AMERICAN ALLIANCE PLAN

Aoki Proposed a Mutual Understanding and His Recall Was the Result.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—The attempt of Viscount Aoki to begin negotiations with the United States Government for a mutual guarantee of territorial rights was the real reason for his sudden recall to Tokio, according to a dispatch to the Call from its Washington correspondent.

It appears that last fall, when the Japanese situation had become acute, Aoki, in conversation with an intimate friend of President Roosevelt, said:

"Japan has not the slightest desire to acquire the Philippines, or any other American territory. Perhaps, if mutual assurances could be exchanged, that the United States and Japan would agree to respect each other's territorial rights and to guarantee them, if necessary, against other powers, the existing questions might be solved."

The result was a visit to the White House by the man whom Aoki had consulted. His purpose was to ascertain whether the President would entertain such a proposal. The President instantly approved of it.

Viscount Aoki formulated a cablegram to Tokio, embodying the substance of his plan. The reply from Tokio was a clean-cut and not too polite refusal to begin negotiations on the basis outlined. Viscount Aoki cabled to Tokio, urging reconsideration. Then he was recalled.

A LAZY LIVER

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong, drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over-work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver complaint," or torpid liver, by its wonderful control over the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system of poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

Symptoms. If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of the back," distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, bitter or sour "risings" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, or biliousness, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver, or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

Of Golden Seal root, which is one of the prominent ingredients of "Golden Medical Discovery," Dr. Robert Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, says: "Very useful as a stomachic (stomach) tonic and in atonic dyspepsia. Cures gastric (stomach) catarrh and headaches accompanying same."

Dr. Grover Coe, of New York, says: "Hydrastis (Golden Seal root) exercises an especial influence over mucous surfaces. Upon the liver it acts with equal certainty and efficacy. As a cholagogue (liver invigorator) it has few equals." Dr. Coe also advises it for all stomach affections, indigestion, debility, constipation, also in several affections peculiar to women, and in all chronic derangements of the liver, also for chronic inflammation of bladder, for which Dr. Coe says "it is one of the most reliable agents of cure."

Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, author of the American Dispensatory, gives it a prominent place among medicinal agents, reiterates all the foregoing writers have said about it, as does also Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati. Dr. Scudder says: "It stimulates the digestive processes and increases the assimilation of food. By these means the blood is enriched. * * * * the consequent improvement on the glandular and nervous systems are natural results." Dr. Scudder further says, "in relation to its general effect upon the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states. * * *"

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of Golden Seal root: "It is a most superior remedy in catarrhal gastritis (inflammation of the stomach), chronic constipation, general debility, in convalescence from protracted fevers, in prostrating night sweats." (This agent, Golden Seal root, is an important ingredient of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women's complaints, as well of the "Golden Medical Discovery.") Dr. Ellingwood continues, "in all catarrhal conditions it is useful."

Much more, did space permit, could be quoted from prominent authorities as to the wonderful curative properties possessed by Golden Seal root.

We want to assure the reader that "Golden Medical Discovery" can be relied upon to do all that is claimed for Golden Seal root in the cure of all the various diseases as set forth in the above brief extracts, for its most prominent and important ingredient is Golden Seal root. This agent is, however, strongly reinforced, and its curative action greatly enhanced by the addition in just the right proportion of Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure glycerine. All of these are happily and harmoniously blended into a most perfect pharmaceutical compound now favorably known throughout most of the civilized countries of the word. Bear in mind that each and every ingredient entering into the "Discovery" has received the indorsement of the leading medical men of our land, who extol each article named above in the highest terms. What other medicine put up for sale through druggists can show any such professional endorsement? For dyspepsia, liver troubles, all chronic catarrhal affections of whatever name or nature, lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections the "Discovery" can be relied upon as a sovereign remedy.

A little book of extracts treating of all the several ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines, being extracts from standard medical works of the different schools of practice, will be mailed free to anyone asking (by postal card or letter) for the same, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and giving the writer's full post-office address plainly written.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Exhibit of Irish Laces

On the Second Floor

REV. MICHAEL O'FLANAGAN, a very energetic exponent of the Irish industries, is in charge of this Exhibit, and has brought with him girls from the School of Loughlynn, County Roscommon, Ireland, to demonstrate to the American public the merits of Irish laces.

FATHER O'FLANAGAN'S aim is to teach you the vast difference between the real Irish laces and the many imitations that have flooded the market, and every fair-minded man and woman is surely open to conviction.

A large section of the Second Floor has been turned into a veritable exposition of the Irish Industries

Helie and Mme. Gould Have Tete-a-tete; Prince Tells How to Know Good Cognac

Bubbles and Boiling Water Test by Which He Distinguishes Wine.

PINES FOR DEAR PARIS

His Walks With Cousin's Divorced Wife Not Noticed There, He Says.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Prince Helie de Sagan and Mme. Gould, the former wife of his divorced cousin, Count Boni de Castellane, whom he followed to this country and whom he is expected to marry, spent yesterday afternoon and evening together, visiting their friends, the Tyler W. Morses, at the St. Regis Hotel.

Those who have been following the fortunes of the titled Frenchman and Mme. Gould see in this meeting and open association a sign that she has concluded to defy her brother, George, and his opposition to the Prince.

Prince Grows Restless.

Prince Helie chafes under the restraints which he finds encompassing him. In his retreat at the Waldorf-Astoria he listlessly whiles away the time, fretting because he cannot do in America the things which were so easy in that dear Paris.

For instance, it was no uncommon thing to see Prince Helie and Mme. Anna Gould parading in company on the boulevards of Paris. Such a sight is not possible in New York, for the Prince lives in terror of crowds, mocking cameras and reporters. And Helie was never known to embarrass any of the gentler sex. Not he.

"Oh, when will it end?" he sighs. "Why should Americans think it unusual for me to speak to or walk with or visit Mme. Gould? I'm alone here. So was she in Paris. She loves to walk. So do I. And yet, just imagine, here in the land of the free, I'm not permitted to enjoy the fresh park air as I have done all my life, but must eke out a miserable day in that stuffy hotel. Ough!

Won't Talk of Her.

"Engagement? Marriage? Nonsense. Really nonsense. But enough! I will not discuss Mme. Gould despite all your temptations. No gentleman will mention the affairs of any lady. I'll talk on any topic you suggest; give you the secrets of my bachelor life in Paris; tell you how to distinguish good cognac from the poor quality; how to tear an auto apart and put it together, anything—but, please don't ask me to discuss a lady, for I won't."

He confesses to 48 years. His hair is tinged with gray and his mustache is gray. He is proud of his rugged, stalwart frame and doesn't hesitate to give advice on how to live wisely and well.

"Never drink cocktails," he says with perfect frankness. "They hurt. Look at that bottle of cognac—that's splendid wine, and I know it without having tasted it. A glass of that is better than all the whisky you could consume.

"If you would tell good cognac there are three ways, any of which is infallible. First, shake the bottle well. Then look for the crystal bubbles. If they are clear and preserve their shape for some moments, then the cognac is good. Next pour some into two glasses and add some boiling water to one. Compare the delicate odor. If identical, the brandy is of superior quality. Finally turn your glass about several times and notice if any traces of liquor remain on the inside. If none, the cognac is fit for a king.

His Wine Like Brimstone.

"Alas, how different are the restful life I enjoy at home and my present predicament. Imagine me arising when I feel like it, drinking my coffee and smoking a real cigar. All in the seclusion of my rooms."

Here the Prince called for cognac and cigars. A musty, dust-laden bottle was placed before him. He carefully subjected it to the first and third tests and filled the reporter's glass, remarking, with assurance: "I think you will like that." The reporter proposed a toast to him and those he loved best. He smiled frankly, the glasses clinked, and De Sagan drank to the dregs. The reporter didn't. He stopped half way. He wondered if Mount Vesuvius had been tapped and this liquid drawn from some place far from earth. Then came the cigars. The first box Prince de Sagan rejected. Two more were brought in. He placed his nose close to the tobacco and then felt of the wrappings. "A fair cigar," he announced.

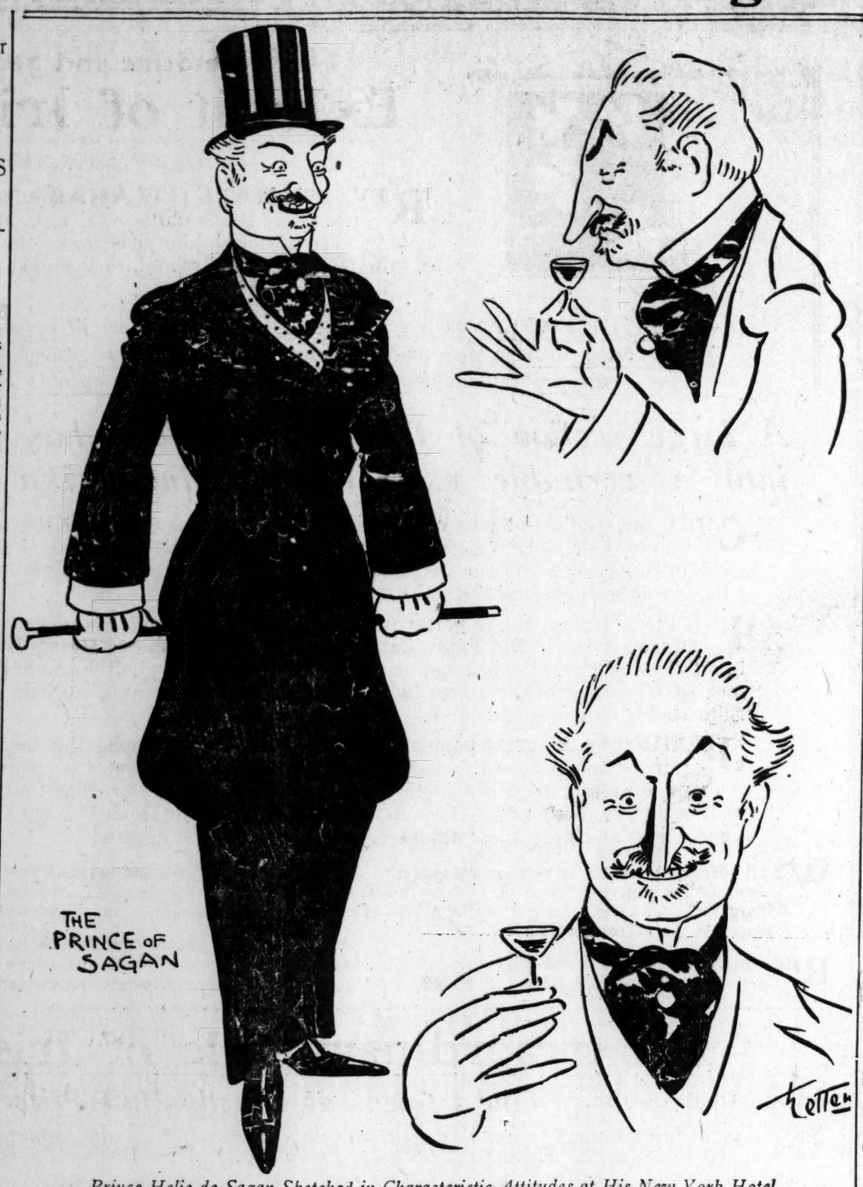

"That's the secret of living right," he said. "Know what you eat and drink. It is easy to tell if your chops are properly cooked. I frequently send them back. Sleep well and long. Don't worry, and don't drink whisky and beer. A bit of good brandy is enough. Walk miles every day. That's why I'm strong and feel better physically than ever in my life."

Likes to Handle Machinery.

The Prince is democratic, and while not crazy about work, declared with emphasis that he liked to don his machinist's overalls and work for hours over his two cars. He is passionately fond of long motoring trips.

"I'll take a machine and pull it apart. But I can put it in shape again. You know that extreme care and delicacy is necessary to keep your engines working properly. I, personally, attend to this and am fond of the work. My father wouldn't permit me to work when I was young and now I'm used to its absence. I wanted to be a butcher, a machinist, anything, in fact, but I was overruled.

"Really," he said, changing the subject, "New York has much attraction for me. I might have been a broker on Wall street had I not been a Prince. Nevertheless, I have had experiences which enable me to give almost anybody good advice. Many a night I have slept on the ground and gone hungry, and I know what a scarcity of loose change in your pocket means. I've had some hard times as a boy who wanted to work but couldn't. I've roamed about a great deal in my day and often felt the sting of necessity very acutely. However, I'm a better and stronger man for it, and if Count Boni doesn't believe it, let him start something either here, if he tags me across, or in Paris. I think I can quickly convince De Castellane anyhow."

NO POLICE AUCTION THIS YEAR

City Counselor Cannot Find Authority for Selling Unclaimed Property.

The Police Department will not have its annual auction sale of unclaimed property this year. City Counsellor Bates, at the request of Chief Creecy, has searched the statutes and failed to find any law giving the police power to sell or otherwise dispose of goods which come into their possession through investigation of theft.

The storeroom in Central District Station is filling up with property. Just what is to be done with the stuff is a question that has not yet been decided.

"MORE MONEY FOR MORE JAILS," RUSSIA'S DEMAND

Mortality in St. Petersburg's Prisons Becomes Alarming—Additional Soldiers Wanted.

Copyright, 1908, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—All the jails in St. Petersburg are so overtaxed the authorities are at their wits' end because of the increasing number of prisoners. The Minister of Justice has asked for a greatly increased appropriation from the Treasury, specifying that the money will be used to build new jails and enlarge the present ones.

Accompanying the plea for money is the statement that in quarters built for a maximum capacity of 107,138 prisoners, there are housed at the present time 154,187 men, women and children.

Epidemic diseases are carrying off hundreds of prisoners. The mortality among the very young and the very old is appalling.

The Minister of Justice suggests that army barracks not now in use be turned into temporary jails.

The Minister of War replies that more barracks are needed because more soldiers are required.

Meantime, the peasants of the Volga and the upper waters on the Don are starving. The Government announces that it cannot reach them with the necessities of life.

DOCTORS TREAT INDIGESTION SUFFERER AS SUICIDE SUSPECT

Man Eats Green Onions and Stomach Pump Is Used Despite His Struggles.

An attack of acute indigestion after eating spring onions taught C. E. Pickett of 2828 Washington avenue how hard is the way of the would-be suicide. Mrs. Pickett and friends at the house thought Pickett had taken poison in an effort to end his life, when he became ill Sunday, and had him hurried to the City Hospital.

Pickett was unable to make the hospital attendants understand what the matter was, and they used a stomach pump despite his violent struggles. Pickett now suggests that this instrument be used as a preventive, as well as a cure, for suicidal mania.

A meeting was held, at which papers concerning the department were read and discussed. Dickson will take charge of the office Tuesday. His predecessor, Robert M. Fulton, resigned to practice law.

JOBS HELD BY ALIENS WILL BE GIVEN VOTERS

Pennsylvania Railroad Orders Discharge of All Men Who Can't Cast Ballot.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 30.—All workmen who are not citizens are being discharged by the Pennsylvania Railroad, to make way for voters. This has led many railroaders to belive that a movement is on foot to use the army of workmen employed by this and other corporations to help elect a president favored by the corporate interests.

When such an order was issued at Wall, Pa., some of the foremen objected to discharging competent foreigners, but a peremptory command was issued to replace them with citizens.

The Pennsylvania Railroad employs fully 180,000 men in normal times, and many other states through which the lines pass are considered doubtful.

$1,500,000 STOLEN IN TWO YEARS BY TRUSTED EMPLOYES

Pittsburg Concerns Have Been Looted by Men They Placed Implicit Confidence in.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 30.—More than a million and a half dollars has been stolen from Pittsburg concerns during the last two years by trusted employes. The first of the big thefts was when Edward C. Cunliffe, messenger for the Adams Express Co., got away with $101,000 which was being forwarded to a Cincinnati bank. He is now in the Eastern Penitentiary. The express company recovered most of the money.

Next came the looting of the Union Trust Co. by C. S. Hixson and Clifford Wray, who got away with $385,000, every penny of which they lost "playing the market" and in other forms of gambling.

Last week Henry Reiber and John Young were arrested charged with robbing the Farmers' Deposit National Bank of $1,105,000.

C. L. Reiber, a brother of Henry, was cashier of the Penn Bank when it failed in the early eighties. Its president, William Riddle, had tried to get control of the Standard Oil Co., as Henry Reiber and John Young tried to get control of the Pittsburg Lead and Zinc Co.

GRIEF KILLS FIELD PENSIONER

Oldest Employe of Merchant to Be Buried Near His Grave.

CHICAGO, March 30.—After much brooding and innumerable visits to Marshall Field's grave in Graceland Cemetery, Pierre Funck, the oldest employe of Marshall Field & Co., will be buried in the same cemetery today. Grief is said to have killed him.

Mr. Funck, who was born in Luxembourg, Germany, in 1836, came to Chicago when a young man and was employed by the new firm of Palmer Field & Leiter. He rose to occupy a confidential position with Marshall Field & Co. When Marshall Field died he directed in his will that the salary of his oldest employe should be paid to him as long as he lived.

Funck began to fail in health after Mr. Field's death and last Friday he died. He had worked for the Field company 42 years.

NAMED AS A COURT SINGER

NEW YORK, March 30.—Through a cablegram sent by the intendent of the Royal Opera of Berlin, Miss Geraldine Farrar, the soprano, has been informed that Emperor William had decorated her as Kammer Sangerin (court singer) as a reward for her singing in the Prussian capital.

Miss Farrar will receive the decoration itself when she arrives in Berlin in June. When she concludes her engagement with the Metropolitan Opera company she will go to Paris to appear at the Opera Comique and thence to Berlin, where she will sing "Madame Butterfly" and other operas of her repertoire at the Royal Opera.

GIRL WHO ELOPED WITH A PASTOR SUMMONED TO COURT

NEW YORK, March 30.—Surrogate Jackson, at Mineola, Long Island, has issued a citation for Floretta Whaley, who eloped a year ago with Jere K. Cooke, at that time rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, Hempstead, and is living with him in California, to appear in person or by counsel before the Surrogate May 13.

There will be a judicial settlement on that date of the accounts of her grandmother, Keziah Whaley, as executor of the will of Floretta's father, Joan Whaley, out of whose estate, valued at $25,000, Floretta and her sister, Edna, were to be educated and who were to receive the remainder of the property after the grandmother's death.

CARDINALS AND BROWNS START FOR OLD TOWN

McCloskey's Men in Great Form for Opening of the Spring Series.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

DALLAS, Tex., March 30.—The Cardinals arrived here today for a game, traveling to Muskogee tonight. They are all fit and eager for the season to open, and that opening battle with McAleer's Browns cannot come too soon to suit the National Leaguers. It has been a splendid training trip, and there can be no kick on condition this year when they open the warfare.

No member of McCloskey's squad has improved more for the spring training than young Charles, the Tri-State boy, who seems to have made most decidedly good as a third baseman. The first few days of practice in Houston rather discouraged the manager, as he thought he was going to be forced to go scouting for another man for the third corner. But as time went on the speed of Charles increased and he is now hitting it off at a merry clip that certainly looks like major league style.

Charles Has Good Throw.

Charles will be a great ballplayer unless something unusual happens. He has been getting better every day, and now, even before the season has opened, he has learned about all the tricks and traits that go to make up a No. 1 third sacker. He shoots the ball underhanded across the diamond just like Harry Steinfeldt, and he rips in after bunts and takes them with his bare hand with more speed than the veteran third corner man of the Chicago champs.

If Billy Gilbert had only been with the team since it began its spring trip, the Cardinals would have been in splendid shape to begin the season. Charles fits in the one bad hole in the team that McCloskey was gazing upon when the trip was begun. But now he has to stare at another hole, that of second base. Gilbert will not be ready to play ball for a month. He may get in the game before that time, but he will not be in condition to give the club all he is capable of doing.

Cardinals May Be Surprises.

One of the surprises of the year is likely to be the playing of the Cardinals. There are very few fans and critics who realize the change of the Cardinals from last year. It is not the same team at all. Sizing it up man for man with all the other teams of the league, there is no logic in the statement that the Cardinals have no chance to finish out of last place.

McCloskey may not have the best fielding and hitting team in the league, but he has a strong team in both those departments. He has no Johnny Kling for a catcher, but he has a couple of live ones who have a great deal more enthusiasm in the game and more ability than some who are drawing major league salaries now. Then when it comes to pitchers, there is not a single club in the league that is any better off unless perhaps the Chicago Cubs.

So, with the best pitchers in the league and strong in every other department, there is no reason to believe the Cardinals are going to drag as they did last season. Just about one more season of McCloskey schooling and the Cardinals are likely to be contenders for the National League pennant.

McAleer's Squad Is Due Here Tuesday For Practice at Park.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 30.—The Browns depart for home at 12:55 p. m. today, going via Texarkana, where connections will be made with the I. M. Cannon Ball. When stakes were pulled up there was not a sick man in the party. The tourists will roll into Union Station at 7 a. m. Tuesday and go to the Planters and rest up until after lunch, when all hands will break into the home grounds for a final work-out.

Manager McAleer has decided to continue the tilts between colts and regulars, beginning Tuesday afternoon, daily until Saturday. The games will be played behind barred doors, says James.

Expect Much of Bailey.

McAleer is very sweet on the fair-faced, raw-boned Texas phenom, Billy Bailey. Though Bill reported much under weight and a very sick fellow, McAleer felt confident that he would finally round to and be ready when the team departed for home. His conjecture was correct. Bailey cut loose with vengeance during the latter part of last week and Sunday he announced that his whip was feeling strong as ever.

Bailey is 21 years old and has been pitching professional ball for three years. Local enthusiasts got a glimpse of him last fall. His success in winning six straight games from the big leaguers earned him a locker in the Browns clubhouse before the season closed.

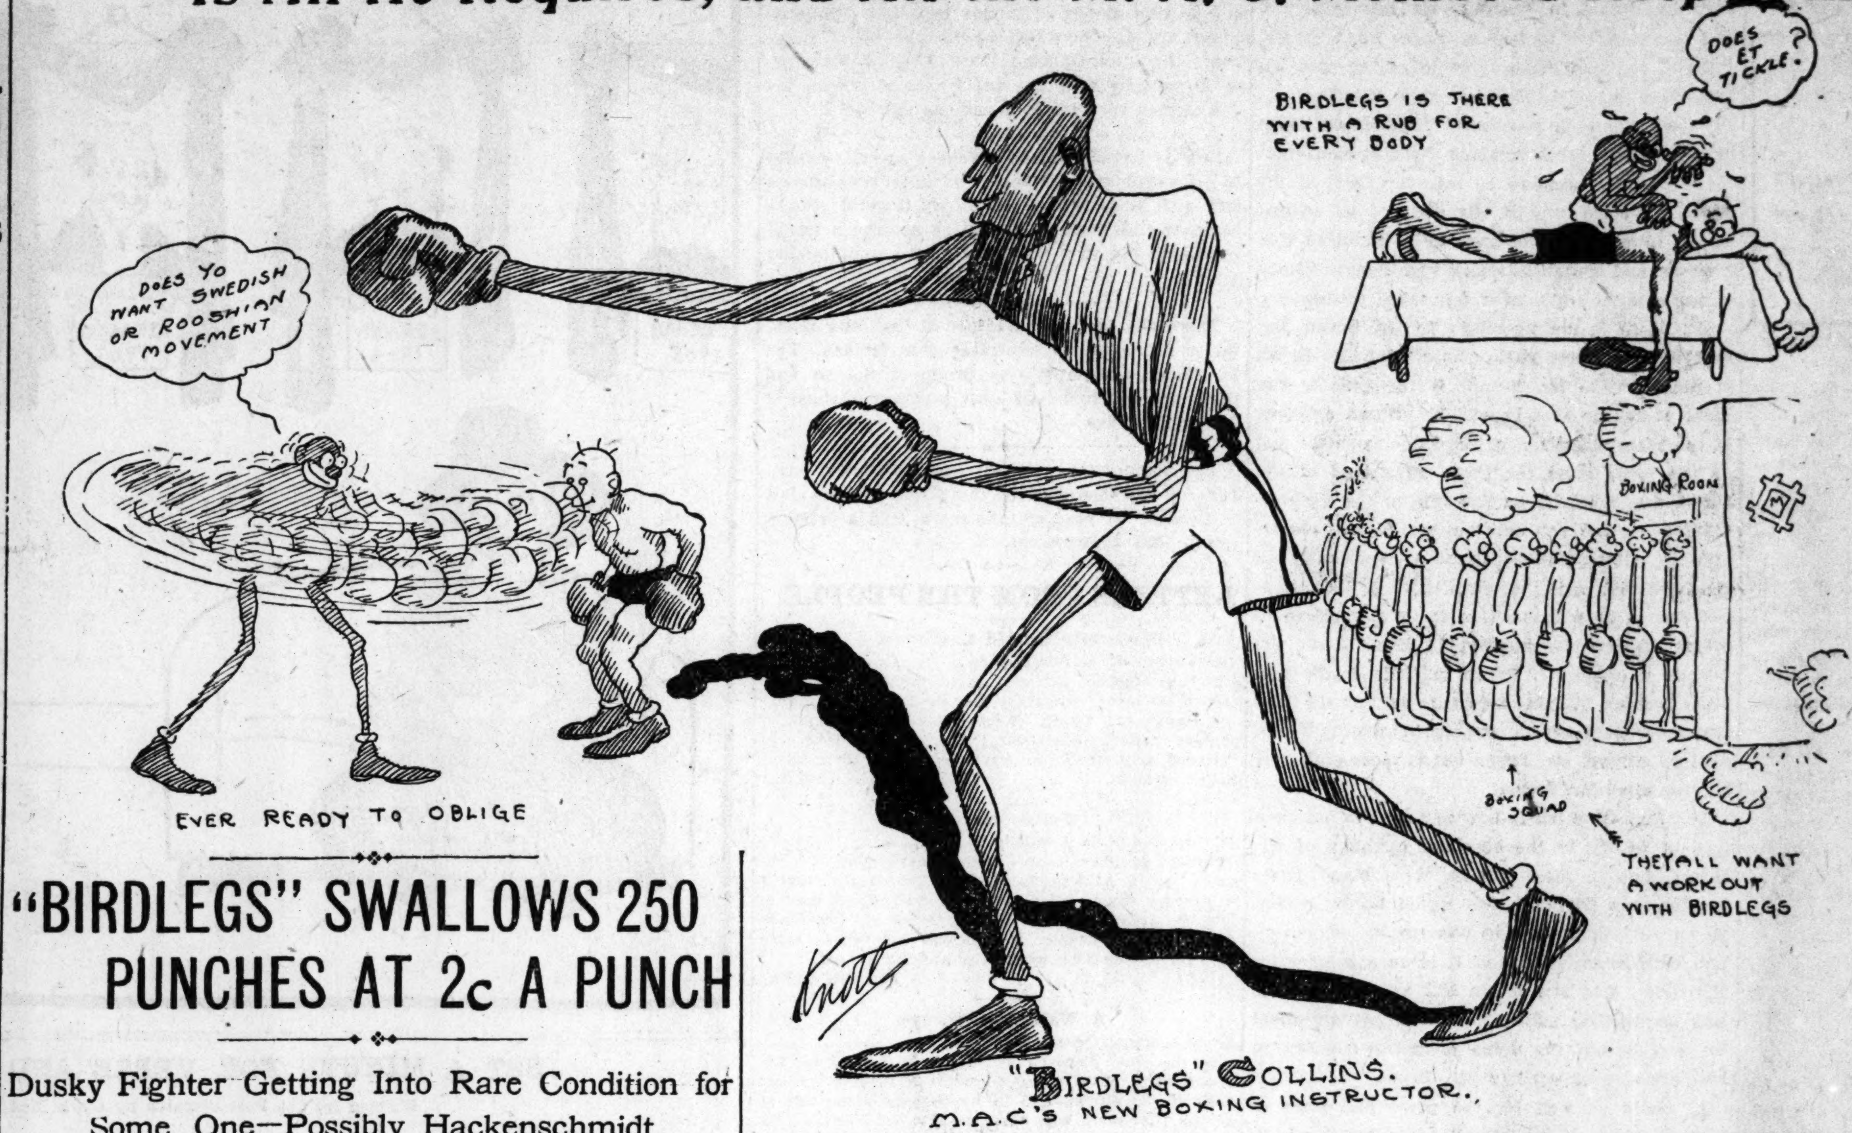

Bailey pitched his first big game against Washington on the road and trimmed the Nationals, 2—1. His next out was in Philadelphia. He held Davis & Co. down to four hits and beat them, 3—2, taking Dygert's taw. In Boston a week later he tackled the ex-champs and won out, 2—1. On the return trip he made his appearance in Cleveland, and was opposed by Addie Joss, but the Browns won, 4—3. He finished the season by twirling two games against Detroit, winning both by scores of 4—1 and 3—1.

Dinneen Is Doubtful.

It cannot be stated whether big, handsome William Dinneen is in condition to pitch, and has regained his "lost soup bone." Dinneen had the advantage of the 10-day sojourn at French Lick Springs. He departed from St. Louis, well down to weight, and so far as outward appearances go, looked fit. He has done very little real pitching. In fact, he has not appeared in a single practice stunt. He has confined his efforts to fielding, fungo batting and an occasional warm-up.

With big Powell, who is fit as can be, Bill has been trotting in and out to the grounds each and every day. Apparently he seems confident that the salary wing is O K, and is endeavoring to work up speed and strength of muscle on the roads. His arm may have recovered its strength and cunning—and it may not.

Misto' "Birdlegs" Collins Is Training Now, 12 Hours a Day Is All He Requires, and All the M. A. C. Members Help Him

"BIRDLEGS" SWALLOWS 250 PUNCHES AT 2c A PUNCH

Dusky Fighter Getting Into Rare Condition for Some One—Possibly Hackenschmidt—at the M. A. C.

"Birdlegs" Collins, the negro lightweight, has evidently found an affinity in the fighting game, or he would never be able to stand up under about 250 hard punches a day at the Missouri A. C. at the rate of about 2 cents per punch, and afterwards rub down the men that punched him.

Collins is helping the Missouri A. C. amateur boxing team get in condition for the tournament at Cincinnati. In all, Collins boxes about 15 men a day, as he is willing to put on the gloves with any one who wants to.

Collins is not like the average fighter. He has no beautiful features to spoil, and has the Missouri mule beaten a mile for patience. The amateur boxers punch Collins and the club members land on "Birdlegs" and they cut loose as hard as they can. The only means of defense that Collins uses now and then is to put his cast-steel cranium in the way of one of his tormentors' swings when they get too strong. Then there is a sound of a crunching bone in the other fellow's hand and it is time to quit.

Collins, after he boxes with each man, gives him a good rub down with alcohol, or witchazel, after which he takes on the next in line. For all this, Collins receives the sum of $1.50 a day. Collins cannot see any more shekels coming his way, but when he gets enough to buy a bundle of United States bonds he intends to cut loose some day at the M. A. C.

Collins can fight, and could put out nearly every man he boxes with in a punch apiece. In the meanwhile, the M. A. C. men are not bothered. Collins is like wet gunpowder. He is likely to explode, but not at present.

INNISFAILS HAVE ONE MORE CHANCE FOR LOCAL TITLE

Defeated Team Will Meet St. Leos Again for City Soccer Championship.

The playing for goal by the St. Leos' forward line proved too much for the Innisfails in the second game between the teams for the local soccer championship at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon and the St. Leos won by the score of 7 to 1 after the Innisfails had been forced to play part of the first half of the game with nine men and all of the second period with 10 men.

The score at the end of the first half was 4 to 0. About ten minutes before the end of the first half Faulkner strained his leg in a collision with "Double" Flynn and Faulkner was forced out of the game.

A few minutes later T. Murray was injured in charging one of the St. Leo players and had to retire. He resumed play in the second half, however. Flynn's ear was cut and he was knocked out when he ran into Faulkner.

Several other players of both teams had the breath knocked out of them during the contest.

Jimmy Donohue scored the first goal for the St. Leos after 10 minutes of playing. A few minutes later Brannigan shot the leather between the posts. From then on the Innisfails seemed to lose heart. The St. Leos shot the ball hard and fast and it was only a question of how large a score they would be able to roll up.

Part of the field was covered with a dirt taken from near a gas plant and from which the odor of gas was strong. Playing in the gas hurt the play of the teams and bothered the spectators.

The game put up by the St. Leos was the fastest witnessed in St. Louis this year. The crowd that attended was the largest that ever filed into Athletic Park. It was estimated that about 5000 persons were present. The Innisfails and St. Leos played a tie game at Kulage Park a week ago Sunday, each team scoring one goal.

The third game will be played next Saturday or Sunday afternoon at Athletic Park.

M. A. C. TEAM IS BACK WITH SECOND

St. Louis U. Could Score Only Third in the Meet at Louisville.

St. Louis University, Missouri A. C. and Central Y. M. C. A. athletes who competed in the indoor athletic meet at Louisville, Ky., returned to St. Louis this morning.

The Missouri A. C. Track team scored the second greatest number of points, 17. The Chicago First Regiment team won the point trophy with 24 points. The Cincinnati gymnasium and athletic club team was third with 14 points.

"Nig" Warner of the Missouri A. C. finished first in the 75 yards handicap. Dunham of the M. A. C. won the shot put. Jackson of the M. A. C. was second in the mile run. In the pole vault Johnson of the Missouri A. C. carried off second prize. Saradakis of the M. A. C. finished third in the 75 yards low hurdle race.

St. Louis University sent three men to Louisville and the best the wearers of the blue and white could get was thirds. Frank Cornet, St. Louis U.'s fast sprinter, could do no better than third in the 75 yards scratch race, although M. J. Cartmell did not compete. The time was :07 4-5.

Cornet also got third in the 75 yards handicap with a 2-foot allowance.

Eddie Tobin was scratch man in the half-mile run. He passed all of the handicap men and on the last lap, with 120 yards to go, was leading when he tired as the result of his hard work and was forced to drop back into third place.

Brad Robinson got third in the shot put. In a special throwing the rugby football event Robinson was returned a winner.

COMISKEY SWELLS VON DER AHE FUND

Former Brown Remembers His Old President With a $500 Check.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox baseball team of Chicago, handed James H. McTague a check for $500 before he left St. Louis for Chicago to add to the receipts of the benefit baseball game between the Browns and Cardinals to be played at Sportsman's Park on April 9, for Chris Von der Ahe.

Comiskey, early in his baseball career, played in St. Louis under Von der Ahe 25 years ago as a pitcher at a salary of $75 a month. Now Von der Ahe is ill and broken, while Comiskey owns one of the greatest money making baseball clubs in the United States.

Comiskey played with the old Browns when they won the American Association championship in 1885, 1886, 1887 and 1888. He left St. Louis to manage the Cincinnati team at a contract calling for $7000 a year for three years, which was a larger salary than Van der Ahe would pay.

Other prominent baseball magnates and fans are to aid in the Von der Ahe benefit and the gate receipts of the game will be turned over to "Der Boss President."

HUESTON MEETS OLD RIVAL AGAIN

Begins Pool Match With Jerome Keogh at Chicago Monday Night.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, March 30.—The opening of the pool championship match at Brooke's Casino between Thomas A. Hueston of St. Louis and Jerome B. Keogh of Buffalo, which takes place tonight, is creating great interest in the local sporting world and a large crowd will turn out to witness it.

Hueston, who has been here a week preparing himself for the contest, says he is in fine condition and confident he will win. Local experts who have watched him play pronounce him a champion in every way. Keogh has done his practicing in the East and reports himself in good shape.

Speaking of his match with Hueston in St. Louis two months ago, Keogh says: "I had a lead of exactly 84 balls at one time, yet Hueston overcame this during the final night's play.

"He never looked good to me, as he takes too many slapdash chances. First he is at one end of the table and then the other. He seems to play with no system at all, but I must admit he gets results. Still, it looks to me as if he continually was favored with great good luck."

Frank Gotch, the wrestler, who is a great friend of Keogh's, and Hackenschmidt will be present at the opening game.

CARDINALS WIN OVER TWO TEAMS

Washington Handed Cellar Pennant and Houston Trounced the Same Afternoon.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

HOUSTON, Tex., March 30.—Washington gets the cellar championship of the world.

The Cardinals simply trounced Cantillon's tail enders, whipping them 7 to 3, and making the series stand three victories and one whipping. After that game, they thrashed the Houston club 8 to 3 and then packed their suits and bats and broke camp for Dallas for a day's exhibition. The boys were glad to break camp last night and board the northbound train.

Cantillon's men started off with a rush in the Sunday battle, and until the eighth inning seemed to have the victory carefully tucked away. But in that frame the National Leaguers began a rally and drove home five counters. The score was 3 to 2 against them when the eighth opened, and it was 7 to 3 for them when it closed.

"Pink" Murray, the flashy-haired center fielder for "Pop" McCloskey, drove the clinching pin into the victory with a terrific three-base hit when the bases were full. Murray got the name of "Pink" while going around the bases, for he lost his cap on the first turn and his hair was displayed in all its brilliancy as he flew around the bags.

Eddie Karger pitched a beautiful game against the American Leaguers and only will do enough work this week to have his left wing ready for next Sunday's game with the Browns. Higginbotham toyed with the Texas Leaguers in the second contest and had things all his own way.

Little Bert Keeley did the pitching for Washington and for seven innings held the Cardinals in his control, but in the eighth a couple of infield bunts and two errors let in the tying run and left the bases full, and then came "Pink's" three-bagger and it was all over except the formal ending of the game.

Just before the game, a telegram to Eddie Karger told of the death of Forest Crawford, the former Houston and St. Louis player who resides at Austin.

A hat was passed through the grandstand, as Crawford's wife and baby are destitute. Nearly $300 was collected.

CARDINAL SECONDS RETRIEVE GAME IN THE NINTH INNING

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 30.—While the "big" team was presenting Washington with the championship emblem at Houston Sunday, the Cardinal Youngsters were doing a little side-line winning down here. The victory over San Antonio was a close affair, pulled out in the ninth inning, 2 to 1.

Rhodes pitched a nice game, allowing but six hits and keeping them scattered after the first inning.

BROWN COLTS BID FAREWELL TO MONROE IN 3—1 VICTORY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MONROE, La., March 30.—Despite a cold, raw wind, the St. Louis Browns second team went into Sunday's game here with July vim and defeated the Monroe Cotton Leaguers, 3 to 1.

Farris did the twirling for St. Louis and held the Southerners to five hits. The visitors got but one more safety off Bauer, who was on the ramparts for Monroe.

Watch for Cardinal Winners

The ten winners in the Cardinal contest will be announced in Monday's Sporting Edition, together with the baseball essays which captured the $5 prizes.

Although Arthur Hostetter is the big favorite, there are many who think, and tell why, that Eddie Karger is more Valuable than M'Closkey's Utility man. Jack Barry and Bobby Byrne also have many admirers.

RUBE AND CRISS SHOW GREAT FORM

Waddell Bet He Would Fan 20 in the Final Shreveport Game.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 30.—The distinct feature of the Browns' Sunday farewell 3—1 victory over Shreveport was the masterly manner in which the two great twirlers, Waddell and Criss, performed.

Waddell's feat of fanning nine of the enemy within four innings was beautiful to view. He wanted to work the entire game, but McAleer refused him. He had wagered he would fan 20 of the minor leaguers.

Criss' five-inning exhibition, though not as spectacular as Rube's, was just as effective. He had burning speed, perfect control and did not allow a run, and only one hit. Not a local reached first until after one was down in the ninth inning.

Said McAleer: "I'm the happiest man in town. Rube showed me some championship twirling today. Yes, I got stung by Philadelphia. It is to laugh. This is the best ball club from every standpoint I ever bossed. We're ready for McClosky's men. Clear the road; we are shooting home."

HIGH AVERAGE BOWLER BEATEN

Masson Loses Four of Seven Games to Ameling in Individual Tourney.

Despite his registering the high average of the afternoon, Emil Masson of the Palace team lost four out of seven games to Jerry Ameling of the Witter-Christens in their individual city tenpin championship tournament on the De Soto alleys Sunday. Masson averaged 204 6-7 pins per game. Ameling's average was 198 3-7.

In the fifth game Ameling got the pins when he needed them. Masson sent over 237, but Ameling came back with 248. Masson got 255 in the opening game.

Gus Schmitt of the Palace five won the odd game in his match with L. W. Waldecker of the Hyde Parks. Schmitt won the first, fourth, fifth and sixth games. His average was 197 1-7. Waldecker averaged 195 6-7.

Homer Sanders of the De Soto Stars and George Rudolph of the Palace team, had a good match. Sanders won five games with an average of 196 3-7.

The last three games were close, Sanders winning the seventh game by five pins with the low score of 165 to 160.

C. B. C. TEAM DEFEATED AGAIN

Maplewood Trolley Leaguers Gather in 9-to-5 Victory.

The Maplewood team of the Trolley League defeated the C. B. C. team in a game on the Christian Brothers' College campus yesterday afternoon, 9 to 5. It was the second defeat for the college team in two days, the Dentals winning from the wearers of the purple and gold Saturday.

C. B. C. put up a strong game against the professionals. Brown pitched for C. B. C. and allowed nine hits. The college boys got nine hits off Rayner, but he kept them well scattered with the exception of the eighth, in which C. B. C. scored three runs.

Shamrocks Win Soccer Game.

A large crowd witnessed the soccer game between the Shamrocks of the Suburban Soccer League and the SS. Mary and Joseph team at St. Columbkille Park yesterday afternoon, the Shamrocks winning, 5 to 2. The game was fast, although the players at times mixed it up a bit too lively and several rough bumping matches resulted. Patterson scored two goals for the Shamrocks.

FORSHAW BEST IN TRIAL RUN

Nine Men Prep for Cross-Country and Marathon.

Nine men took part in the eight-mile cross-country run in Forest Park yesterday morning, in preparation for the W. A. A. U. cross-country championship race and the Marathon run. The men started and finished at the Triple A clubhouse.

Joe Forshaw registered the best time, covering the distance in 49 minutes. Kemper, who was allowed a 5-minute handicap, was the first to reach the clubhouse.

The other men in the order in which they arrived were: Weber, Forshaw, Reutner, Guest, Pritchard, Parkinson, Roth and Ferris.

Dr. Frederick C. Artopeous successfully inserted a glass eye in the empty socket. The bull-terrier seemed very grateful, and, as if to prove that he felt as well as ever, he thrashed a bulldog, an old enemy, on Saturday.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S "DEFEAT."

For the information of a newspaper and certain interests which appear to be rejoicing over the failure of conviction in the case of Warner, the Post-Dispatch will say that in all that it has done to expose and punish the corruptionists of the House of Delegates it finds nothing to regret, except that more has not been accomplished.

The attempt made by a representative of the Post-Dispatch to persuade Warner that it would be well for him to make a full confession of matters presumably within his knowledge was legitimate and honorable and here, too, there is nothing to regret, except that the man accused failed to see his duty in the same light.

As public institutions, newspapers of the right sort often find themselves in a position to promote the ends of justice. The Post-Dispatch has met emergencies of this kind in the past and it hopes never to be neglectful of them in the future. In such cases it does not assume to speak for the law or its ministers. It speaks for the people who make laws and who select men to enforce them.

A newspaper which is not so free from the complications of unworthy alliances as to be at liberty at all times to serve public interests in this fashion; a newspaper which does not look upon a miscarriage of justice as in some sense a defeat for itself, and a newspaper which is not as sensitive to the public honor and welfare as it is to its own is a poor, weak and unworthy thing, hardly deserving of notice in these days when there is real work to be done and genuine service to render.

DISEASE IN THE BAKERIES.

In voting to devote further consideration to the bill for the regulation of bakeries the Legislative Committee of the City Council gives promise of avoiding a lamentable error.

Conditions existing in many of the small bakeries, as has been shown in these columns, are intolerable. There is no pretense of cleanliness and there is nothing to prevent the employment of persons suffering from communicable diseases. This industry is extensively carried on in basements where contagion and filth go hand in hand and where the recklessness of health and decency is all but indescribable.

No arguments addressed to the committee in behalf of these places and their proprietors can possibly outweigh the more important considerations of public welfare. So-called constitutional objections may be dismissed at once. The police power of the State, exercised in this case by the city, is in such matters practically without limit.

The House of Delegates acted with commendable promptness on this measure, and the Council should not close its present session without giving the bill its approval. There is no oppression in saving ignorance and wretchedness from themselves. There is protection for all in fighting disease in the purlieus where it originates and from which it is distributed.

BUFFER TRUSTS FOR THE COAL TRUST.

We shall have a further development of monopoly if retail coal dealers organize in the cities generally as they are said to be doing in Chicago, where a combine is reported to have purchased the terminal yards, stocks of coal, horses, wagons, stables and complete facilities of a number of dealers.

It will mean that the Retailers' Trusts are owned by the Coal Trust and will be used as buffers to protect it, to draw the fire of local public opinion, of opposition, of regulation. And the Retailers' Trust could be regulated or entirely disposed of every day in the week without reducing the price of coal or disturbing the vast trusteeship by divine right which controls the mines.

It is patent that no retailers will do anything without the permission or perhaps the inspiration of the parent monopoly, which absolutely dictates the terms upon which they shall do business with the public.

Eventually the Government may be obliged reluctantly to undertake to regulate the parent trust itself.

LAUGHING PRINCES OUT OF COURTSHIP.

Perhaps the most effectual means of disposing of a case is to laugh it out of court. In the end American humor may triumph over fortune-hunting princes by laughing them out of courtship.

Our absolute refusal to take royalty seriously in this country, particularly when it is a pauper paying suit to an American heiress, is a singularly wholesome and hopeful sign.

Certain it is that the popular ridicule of Prince Helle de Sagan, whether it prove a sufficient detriment in his case or not, is of a volume and character to warn future aspirants of like caliber and credentials.

Moreover, a little of the same medicine may be good for American papas, as suggested by its pronounced and almost violent effects upon the Hon. Steve Elkins.

This seems to be a pretty good country to live and die in when the heirs of a man hanged for murder can collect life insurance.

Architects are usually in a hurry to build, but the architect of the St. Louis Public Library appears to be an exception.

SENATOR STONE AS A LEANER.

No one can blame Senator Stone for doing his best to identify himself and his fortunes with Mr. Bryan and his fortunes.

Mr. Bryan is a man of high character and of lofty ideals. He possesses the confidence of the people to an extraordinary degree. He has never been implicated in scandal. He has principles and the capacity to impress them upon others. Friends and foes alike agree in saying that his reputation is good. He can carry Missouri.

Without passing too harsh a judgment upon Senator Stone, truth compels the statement that in all of these respects he falls far short of the Bryan standard, and if one were to be critical of Mr. Bryan, it would have to be admitted that his long and cordial intimacy with Senator Stone belies many of his most agreeable professions.

Mr. Stone is not necessary to Mr. Bryan, but everybody in these parts knows that Mr. Bryan is necessary to Mr. Stone. If the Senator can make it appear that he and Mr. Bryan are men of the same character, of the same impulses and of the same aims the great advantage of the association must lie on the side of the Senator.

While no one will question Mr. Stone's cleverness in attempting to figure conspicuously in good political society at election time, there cannot fail to be a disposition in many places to protest against the attempt by himself and his friends to seize Mr. Bryan in their deadly embrace and use his pleasing figure as a shield from the onslaughts of an opposition which is not arrayed against Mr. Bryan but is most positively moving upon Mr. Stone.

The Post-Dispatch is now and always has been free to testify to the excellent qualities of Mr. Bryan, but if these virtues were many times greater than they are they would hardly suffice in an analytical view to obscure the shortcomings of William J. Stone. It is no argument for Mr. Stone that Mr. Bryan has co-operated with him in practical politics, nor is it any argument for Mr. Stone that some elements opposed to him are also opposed to Mr. Bryan.

It would be well for the name and fame of Senator Stone if the objections to him were no more serious than those which have been urged against Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan has been antagonized of late only on grounds of availability and political expediency. The indictment against Senator Stone goes to the very foundations of his character as a man and a public servant. Who shall wonder, then, that Mr. Stone leans heavily upon Mr. Bryan and entertains the hope that by that process he may be helped over the many rough places now plainly in sight?

If Missouri could make Mr. Bryan President he would have the office. He can carry Missouri any day in the week. But Missouri alone cannot give him the Presidency. Now that Mr. Stone is better known than he was some years ago and that standards radically different from his own have come to be looked upon with favor, it is not believed that he can carry Missouri or even that part of Missouri which resides in the Democratic party. His one hope is to make use of Mr. Bryan's good name and Mr. Bryan's great popularity. A broken reed is leaning upon what, locally, is a tower of strength. Let the Senator beware of the comparison.

Mr. Bryan is not taking sides in the Missouri senatorial contest. He cannot afford to do so. His strength in this State does not depend upon Mr. Stone. Mr. Stone ought not to be able to make use of any strength that properly belongs to Mr. Bryan.

If intelligence and good morals were to govern wholly, Mr. Stone as well as Mr. Bryan would fear the fatal juxtaposition. The farther apart these gentlemen keep the better will it be for both of them.

A GENTLEMAN ON A STREET CAR.

The problem of what is a gentleman has many interesting phases, but none more so than the street car phase. How shall the true gentleman conduct himself on a street car and particularly when there are ladies present?

This phase has been illuminated by the gentleman from Alabama in the House of Representatives, Mr. Heflin. It is worthy of note in passing that the true Southern gentleman always shines on a street car.

The Hon. Mr. Heflin came to Washington with certain preconceived notions amounting almost to prejudice. For one thing, it is quoted of him that he "don't like a colored Republican voter nohow." Certain it is that he finds the aforesaid voter persona non grata on street cars, and the species he discovered in Washington led him to father a Jim Crow bill for the District of Columbia; an act which the present administration for some reason has failed as yet to pass. But in any event Mr. Heflin has incurred sufficient disfavor in those parts to justify the authorities in permitting him to arm himself as becomes a Southern gentleman of the old school. Accordingly, he is an arsenal whom it were well not to cross. These facts are pertinent as explaining while they emphasize his attitude of mind.

Last Friday, unlucky day! two colored supporters of the present administration inadvisably obtruded their persons upon a car on which Mr. Heflin happened to be, and, worse to relate, they sat down and began to guzzle gin and swear in a most offensive manner. There were ladies present. The rest is history.

Suffice it to say that Mr. Heflin gave a very convincing definition and demonstration of a true Southern gentleman of the old school. Incidentally that brand of gentleman is a Jim Crow law unto himself. We leave it to the gallantry of all times and all nations to say whether he may not occasionally be right.

It may be that a few Heflins distributed through the street cars of the land would have a salutary effect upon the manners of some white men, to say nothing of black.

The celebrated Prof. Zueblin, lately of the University of Chicago, has made the important discovery that saving of money can be overdone. There are excellent reasons for the belief, however, that the Chicago institution of learning, in dispensing with the professor's services, has not carried the idea to a ruinous extreme.

How is it that Toledo manages so successfully to get workhouse sentences for its trust magnates and rich malefactors? Attorney-General Bonaparte and all lesser prosecuting attorneys might profitably put in a while at Toledo studying her secrets.

There should be no whisper of "sending East" for a successor to Superintendent Soldan. The St. Louis schools system produced Soldan and there are others of its own products eminently fit for his place.

The Democratic party has been put out of business by the operation of the direct primary law in Oregon. It used to take more than a primary law to kill a Democrat.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Democratic Colored Gentlemen.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In your superior editorial, giving definition of "colored gentlemen," you state that he has always voted the Republican ticket. With due respect, I wish to correct this statement, for I have known of several "colored gentlemen" to have voted the Democratic ticket straight. YOUNG DALLASITE.

Police Joiners.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Certain members of the Police Department are engineering an Athletic League and wanting members to pay for same. These certain members got men to join the Jefferson Club, Ancient Order of Hibernians and campaign funds. If you will note these same men have easy desk work, not walking a beat.

A POLICEMAN.

A Walker's Challenge.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In the Post-Dispatch of March 25 I read an account of a little walking stunt performed by one John T. McMahon, and in which you quote him as saying that there was not a man in the State, of his weight, 221 pounds, who could walk two and one-half miles in 59 minutes. Now, I weigh 267 pounds and am over 50 years of age, and if I had the coin to put up I would wager any amount that I could perform the same feat in 50 minutes. G. S.

Office Holders Grab Honors.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In the selection of the four delegates to represent Missouri in the Democratic Convention at Denver, would it not be well to give the non-officeholding element in the party representation? In the list of names mentioned for these places, I have noticed none but congressmen and ex-governors. It would seem to me that these gentlemen have had the substantial honors of the party, and that it might be good politics to bestow the empty honors on representatives of the private voters, who are the ones, after all, that carry the elections at the polls.

PRIVATE VOTER.

Is This a New Rule?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Does the United Railways Co. allow passengers to ride on the front end of their cars? I boarded the front end of a northbound Broadway car a few mornings ago, about 7:45, at 6900 South Broadway, in charge of Motorman Badge No. 4100, and was at once very roughly ordered to get off. Is this a new rule the company has of forcing the passengers to join the straphangers' union, or can it be that the company is training their men so they will be better fitted to drive the people when they put in use the pay-as-you-enter cars? Have others had the same experience? ABUSED PASSENGER.

The Price of Meat.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

You ask, "Why not move on the Beef Trust?". I will say, for my part, I would much rather move on the retail butcher, as I have worked for both the retail butcher and the Beef Trust and find at times a shortage of cattle on the market which must bring the price of cattle up. When the packer has to raise on price of dressed beef the retail butcher not only raises to the 2 more cents a pound, but adds a couple or three cents more, saying waste in bone compels them to raise more than the packer. Now, I can't understand why there can be any more waste of bone in the cattle of today than last week.

A NORTH VENICE (ILL.) READER.

Sandwiched Between Hats.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The writer, while riding out Olive from Sixth street to Wellston, might have let his thoughts dwell on any number of subjects from "How to save on $100 per" to "Fair finance," but sandwiched in between three huge sailors, one in front, one alongside and the other behind, all flittings, fancies and observations soon gave place to an all-absorbing reverie on the merits and demerits of this wonderful creation. It does seem inconsistent and unappreciative that just when Captain Pickel and his champions have succeeded in abating the "car-seat hog" nuisance the women should reduce the carrying capacity of our street cars by one-half. CRITIC.

Carriers' Sunday Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I agree with I Am a Victim in regard to the Sunday work of letter carriers. While the good people of this country are urging reforms and the abolition of Sunday work, the carriers' Sunday work is doubled, compelling them to work every Sunday in the year. Anyone familiar with the mail service knows that to make the carriers work every Sunday is an imposition and is entirely uncalled for. Instead of increasing the carriers' Sunday work it could be greatly reduced on account of the consolidation of the substations. If the officials would be compelled to work every Sunday for awhile they may learn to know what that means and perhaps they would give the employes a little more consideration.

EX-CARRIER.

Selling Cast-Off Clothing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In answer to the letters by T. B. and "Poor Working Man," would like to say, Yes, almost every Christian organization in the city sells cast-off clothing. The churches under the name of rummage sales, the Salvation Army, American Army and Volunteers under the name of industrial homes. Thousands of garments are given away to the needy poor and for a low sum or a little work all others may be obtained. The Bible says, "Earn your bread by the sweat of your brow," and no Christian organization has a right to encourage laziness, and after the expenses of heavy rents, men's pay and horses' feed, etc. What is the money used for? To carry on Christian work and make the world better, and I have observed as a Christian worker for some time that the man who yells the loudest isn't the man that wants a job. MISS M. B. P.

DISCUSSION.

How Will It Be?

You are forty now, and you live in style,
You have "got along" as the people say;
But your strength will wane in a little while.
Your sight will fail and your hair grow gray;
You are satisfied with yourself, but how
Will it be in twenty years from now?

You are forty now; you have reached the turn,
You live in a fairly pleasant place,
But it costs you every cent you earn
To make the show and to go the pace;
You are taking things as they come, but how
Will it be in twenty years from now?
—Chicago Record-Herald.

How It Will Be.

We are forty now, and while we save
Scarce anything at all, 'tis true,
There still is no cause to be grave
Because of what things may ensue
When our hair (if any) shall be gray
And life as is the end of day.

We are forty now; it won't be long
Until we shall possess the store
Of wealth that we've been paying on
Since most of us were twenty-four
In those endowments which, somehow,
We can't keep up and save, too, now.

A VOICE IN CONGRESS.

It has scarcely struck us that the chest expansion of a candidate for Congress is an important consideration, but that it is would appear from what the Nation says of Representative Littlefield, soon to retire.

Regretting his determination to give up his seat, it says that "to a logical mind and full resources upon which he can readily draw, he adds the advantage of a powerful voice. Without this, no one can hope to engage successfully in a rough-and-tumble discussion on the floor of a vast and noisy chamber."

There is no comfort in this. The possibility of finding someone who combines with the other requisites a chest expansion of from 5 to 8 inches is extremely precarious. Those walks of life which develope the chest are not usually the ones to which we look for Congressional timber. A train caller could make himself heard, but would hardly have anything worth while to say. The proportion of lawyers in Congress is already larger than is consistent with the national welfare. The prohibition movement has not reached the point where we can elect preachers. Physical culturists have a bad habit of going around in their undershirts incompatible with the dignity of the Congressional body. All the actors live in New York. Hucksters are hucksters. Thinking men seldom speak, and are usually about the same size with their lungs inflated as duflated. Business men as a rule have soft desk voices suited to unannoying dictation. Farmers have telephones now, and have largely hollered themselves out. Hornblowers might do in some instances, but they are wedded to their art. The odds and ends of society with big voices are making more in the wheat pit than the people could afford to pay them. Steamboat mates are impossible on the negro question, and baseball rooters do not like the Washington team.

We despair.

AT THE FOREST PARK ZOO—NO. 2.

INSURANCE.

The report that some of the property shaken down in Mexico last week was covered by earthquake insurance suggests that our sister republic may be ahead of us in a financial anticipation of some of the more reliable exigencies of life.

Are we insured as fully as becomes the thrift of a prudent nation? To be sure, we are insured against death, accident, fire, cyclones, sickness, burglars, injury to employes, drunken men in contact with plate glass, and a job lot of casualties. But against perils even more imminent than some of these we hold no policies whatever.

For instance, the loss of the peach crop is a fortuity which leaves us without indemnity about three times in five. If we had peach insurance we might eat peaches raised elsewhere, instead of invariably resorting to prunes. The apple crop is almost equally adventurous. Yet the uninsured blossom will blow in a few days in all the temperate zone, and the frost will probably get it, leaving our stomachs to the scant mercy of the dessicated, or dried, apple, which many a good man has died full of. It is possible that the Lloyds offer us insurance against such contingencies as Hessian flies in the wheat, boll weevils in the cotton, green bugs in the greens, chinch bugs in the oats, grasshoppers in the corn, hens in the garden, cholera in the hogs, and that predaceous army to which allusion is made in the famous rhyme,

Big crops have big bugs
To prey upon and bite 'em,
And little crops have little bugs,
And so on ad infinitum,

but if they do, the agents never annoy us.

Really, there is no reason why any disaster should catch us unprepared. When we travel we can pay the ticket agent an extra quarter and leave those dependent upon us in affluence if the railroad is running without telegraph operators to reduce operating expenses; but we cannot give the conductor on the street car an extra cent and collect $2 if we leave an umbrella on the car. Neither can the uneasy wife of these days of hazardous domesticity save something out of her allowance and insure herself against that terrible day when her husband shall meet his affinity and leave his hearth and home to shift for themselves, any more than the saloonkeeper can secure himself against ruin in the event his township votes dry.

Are we fully insured, really?

WHERE HE STANDS.

"Do you happen to know where he stands on the prohibition issue?"

"Yes. Before the bar."

Gus. Thos. thinks he may be chosen to nominate Bryan. Heretofore Mr. Thos. has almost exclusively dealt with great successes.

IN SEARCH OF A WIFE

A Narrative in Six Chapters of a Lonely Youth's Infatuations. Written for the Post-Dispatch

BY IVAN WHIN.

IVAN WHIN

IF YOUR desk were at a window away up in the steenteenth story, and a girl sat all day long at a typewriter in the steenteenth story of the building across Broadway, wouldn't you feel that you were above the conventions of the street and permitted to smile at the typist across the way? And if she smiled at you would you think of such friendliness as a flirtation?

Suppose she did smile—I mean the tall, plump blonde in the black dress, very square shoulders suggestive of a brace worn in childhood, slightly pouting lips and retrousse nose—suppose she did smile, then what would you do?

Of course I am assuming that you are unmarried or if married that you will consider my problem in the past tense.

Bold spirit that you are, you would make business in the insurance office where she is employed and win acquaintance. But would that not necessitate coming down to the street level and some loss to the airiness of the 80-feet-apart-steenteenth-story friendship?

Arthur Garrett worked all day at a ledger limited to a few letters of the alphabet. With machine-like accuracy he entered items, writing the neat, clean bank bookkeeping hand on Mr. Byron Weston's perfect ledger paper. He just had to rest his eyes once in a while, and the way to rest your eyes after concentration on objects near at hand is to look far away. He looked west over the tops of many buildings to the farthest smoke line—until a steel skeleton rose to cut off his view. He was much interested in the steel skeleton, in the riveters pitching and catching red-hot bolts and heading them with pneumatic hammers. He was much interested in the rising skin of brick, which eventually hid the steel.

But he was more interested in the girl who came when the building opposite was finished and who smiled at him.

It was such a reserved smile and there was a possibility that it was not intended for him. The angle from a viewpoint 80 feet distant is much disturbed by an initial variation of a hair's breadth.

Garrett, however, appropriated the smile as an answer to his own. Now it was very daring of Garrett to smile at a girl to whom he had not been introduced. If you only knew the extent of his shyness. Suffice it that he was 26 and never had a ghost of a love affair. He felt stirrings toward matrimony, but all the girls who seemed to have the address necessary to overcome his bashfulness were personally repellant to him.

The girl at the window across Broadway fitted his fancy. True, she might not fit so closely on nearer view, but seen across 80 feet through racing glasses she was the whole flower shop for Arthur.

One of the clerks who lived in the suburbs brought a big bunch of roses from his ingeniously contrived back porch conservatory. Arthur received one for his desk. When the girl across the way looked east to rest her eyes Arthur was looking west to rest his eyes. The faces surrounding those eyes wrinkled in twin smiles. Arthur held aloft his rose and nodded a question: "Do you want it?" She made a cup of her hands that said, "Yes, thank you." He pretended to throw and she to catch. Really, you know, he could not throw a rose 80 feet and through two panes of glass, now could he? But she played at catching the rose and—did she smell it or kiss it?—pinning it on her bosom.

All day it seemed to Arthur that he had thrown the rose; that she had caught it, kissed it and wore it.

Ah, bold-spirited reader, I know you would have sent her the rose at least. Arthur dared not. He flushed at the daring thought that he might do so. Had he known her name it may be he would have done so. The rose lay neglected all the day upon his desk.

In the evening he saw her closing up, hastened his work and fled down to the street with the wilted rose in the pocket of his coat.

From the safe vantage of the crowd oddying around the corner of her building at 5:30 he saw a maiden emerge from the gust of her building's revolving door. The maiden had her build and carriage of shoulders, a sort of stiff-back, braced carriage. He followed her to Sixth and saw her take a Tower Grove car. Her face showing over the crowd on the platform was not the face of the smiling typist.

Garrett hurried back to the revolving doorway in time to see the girl of his fancy emitted. She saw him and her eyes rested on him for an instant. He could not interpret the meaning of her glance.

Of a truth it had no meaning save receptivity. Had he been older and wiser and cooler he would have put his fortune to the touch, but he dropped his eyes like a maiden and hurried on. Once past her he turned. She was walking west on Olive.

Garrett shadowed her to Sixth, where she stopped for a car. A Suburban was approaching. He maneuvered on her right flank and gained the front platform of the car. From the steps he saw her mount the rear platform. His intuition that she would take this car had not been at fault.

He hurried inside and secured one of the few empty seats. The home going crowd was beginning to fill the cars ere they entered the down-town loop. Presently he saw that his hoped for charmer had arrived.

The girl of his fancy passed him searching vainly for a seat. Hot all over and shaking he rose valiantly from his seat and held it against amazons who would thrust him from it. The girl turned looking over the seated ranks of men helplessly and her eyes rested on him. He could not becken to her, but she read his proffer in his red embarrassment, edged back through the packed aisle and slipped into the seat under the protection of his bulk.

"Oh, thank you," she said and smiled. Seen at a distance of 80 feet he had not realized how beautiful was her smile. "Isn't it an awful jam?" she queried.

Did embarrassment ever paralyze your thought center and speech apparatus? Did shyness ever drive out of your brain the last atom of conventional speech and paint you scarlet with shame for your stupidity. Garrett clung to a strap swaying drunkenly against indignant amazons, his bleared eyes seeing nothing of the girl, his ears hearing over and over again the music of her voice: "Oh, thank you. Isn't it an awful jam?"

It was an awful jam. Something had gone wrong on Pine street and the car after taking the switch there was sent back by a road boss to go south to Elm street.

A fuse blew with loud report and brilliant flame. The amazons in the aisle screamed. The girl of Garrett's fancy jumped from her seat and caught his arm. He thrust her back into the seat saying calmly, "It is nothing; only the fuse." In the instant of need his shyness vanished; he had the temerity to put his hands upon her and compel her; he spoke with calm authority. The girl looked at him with bright eyes. He was suddenly revealed to her as something more than a pleasantry, an adventure in fun. As suddenly as he had been transformed she was become shy.

It had not seemed improper to play at flirtation when he was up in the air and 80 feet away, it had not seemed improper to frankly talk to him when he gave his seat for his embarrassment eliminated him from the maiden's catalogue of dangerous males. An unauthorized acquaintance with this authoritative person was another matter.

As the car turned into Elm cries arose from the front platform and the pungent smoke of burning rubber entered the car. The front platform crowd into the aisle and swept back its former occupants. Garrett was borne away from his strap. The car stopped suddenly and he was returned to the girl's side by the jolt. He caught the back of her seat and commanded her to sit still while the excited passengers pushed frantically, crying "Fire."

The insulation in the controller box was burning and flame spouted from it till some wise person pulled the trolley from the wire.

As the crowd thinned Garrett said: "Come. We'd better get out. This car will be out of commission."

He led her through the jam at the steps and from the sidewalk they watched the car crew fighting the fire. She yielded herself to his guidance contentedly.

"We'd better walk back to Locust street," he said. "With this trouble and the trouble in Pine street the inspector will be turning back cars at Sixth and Locust. They won't try to use the loop."

As they walked back he explained as well as a man can explain to a woman the trouble with the controller box. She listened with that faith and lack of understanding women give explanations of this sort under such circumstances.

They caught one of the first cars turned back and got seats together.

"How lucky," she gurgled. If it hadn't been for you"—and her eyes told of great obligation. "Just to think," she continued, "I might have been hours getting home. I would never have thought of coming here."

His authority had vanished; his shyness supervened. He could not talk now that all occasion for action was past.

"And just think," she said softly, "I don't even know your name."

He told her, but choked so in utterance that she had to ask him to repeat several times. To make life interesting, she asked what he did all day at the window on the steenteenth story with his big book, and so led him into the one subject on which any man will talk: his work.

In the midst of his garrulity a man leaned over him, saying: "Hello, Maggie."

"Oh, Mr. Thompson!" she said, and introduced the florid, easy stranger to her escort. She told the story of their adventure volubly, while Garrett sat silently conning the revealed fact that her name was Maggie. Instinctively he disliked Thompson for his ease, his familiarity, his attitude of possessing Maggie. He hated himself for an ass that he allowed Thompson to take her from the car at Grand avenue, but he remembered ecstatically the smile and hand pressure she gave him in farewell.

BUTTERMILK CURES OLD AGE.

Or You May Take Any Form of Soured Milk and Stave Off the Dread Specter.

SOURED milk, which can be taken at any time of the day—with or between meals—is recommended by Elie Metchnikoff in "The Prolongation of Life" (Putnam's) as the best means of warding off senility. Boiled soured milk has worked wonders which he has seen in kidney and intestinal troubles. "Our precocious and unhappy old age," he says, is due to the poisoning of the tissues through intestinal putrefaction. Soured milk arrests this process of putrefaction in the large intestine. He says:

"From time immemorial human beings have absorbed quantities of lactic microbes by consuming in the uncooked condition substances such as soured milk, kephir, sauer kraut, or salted cucumbers which have undergone lactic fermentation. By these means they have unknowingly lessened the evil consequences of intestinal putrefaction. In the Bible soured milk is frequently spoken of. When Abraham entertained the three angels he set before them soured milk and sweet milk and the calf which he had dressed (Genesis 18, 8.) In his fifth book Moses enumerates amongst the food which Jehovah had given his people to eat 'Soured milk of kine and goats' milk, with fat of lambs and rams of the breed of Bashan, and goats with the fat of kidneys.' (Deut. 32, 14.) Note. In the English authorized version as in the translation of Osterwald the word 'butter' is used in place of 'soured milk.' Prof. Metchnikoff follows the translation given by Evstein in his work on the Medicine of the Old Testament.)

A food known as "Leben raib," which is a soured milk, prepared from the milk of buffaloes, kine or goats, has been used in Egypt from the remotest antiquity. A similar preparation known as "yahourth" is familiar to the populations of the Balkan Peninsula. The natives of Algiers make a kind of "leben" not identical with the Egyptian form.

Soured milk is consumed in great quantities in Russia in two forms—"prostokwacha," which is raw milk spontaneously coagulated and soured, and "varenetz," which is boiled milk soured with a yeast.

The chief food of many natives of tropical Africa consists of soured milk. The staple diet of the Mpseni is "a curdled milk, almost solidified." "Meat is eaten only on ceremonial occasions." According to Foa, a tribe of the Nyassa-Tanganyika plateau, like the Zulus, take milk only in the form of a raw cheese mixed with salt and pepper.

Dr. Lima of Mossamedes, in West Africa, has told me that the natives of many regions south of Angola live almost entirely on milk. They employ the cream as an ointment for the skin, whilst the milk, soured and curdled, is their staple food. M. Nogueira reported the same circumstances nearly fifty years ago after his journey in the province of Angola.

Just as cheeses vary in different countries, so curdled milk varies slightly according to the nature of the flora of microbes. Taking all the soured milks that are produced by natural processes, it may be said that the greater number of them contain not only microbes that produce lactic acid, but, also yeasts that cause alcoholic fermentations. Kephir, which is prepared from the milk of kine, and koumiss, which is a product of mares' milk, are notably alcoholic. Koumiss is the well-known national beverage of the Kirghises, Tartars and Kulmucks, nomads of Asiatic Russia, who are famous horse breeders, whilst kephir is the native drink of the mountaineers of the Caucasus, the Ossetes, and some other tribes."

M. Grigoroff, a Bulgarian student at Geneva, has been surprised by the number of centenarians to be found in Bulgaria, a region in which yahourth, a soured milk, is the staple food. Some of the centenarians, described by M. Chemin in his memoir, lived chiefly on a milk diet. Marie Priou, for example, who died in the Haute-Garonne in 1838 at the age of 158 years, had lived for the last 10 years of her life entirely on cheese and goats' milk. Ambroise Jantet, a laborer of Verdun, who died in 1751 at the age of 111 years, "ate nothing but unleavened bread and drank nothing but skimmed milk." Nicole Marc, who died aged 110 years, at the chateau of Colemberg (Pas-de-Calais), a hunchback and cripple, "lived only on bread and milk food. It was only towards the end of her life and after much persuasion that she took a little wine."

I owe to the kindness of M. Simine, an engineer in the Caucasus, the following communication, taken from the newspaper, Tiffilsky Listok, Oct. 8, 1904: In the village of Sba, in the district of Gori, there is an old Ossete woman, Thense Abalva, whose age is supposed to be about 180 years. This woman is still quite capable and looks after her household duties and sews. Although she is bent, she walks firmly enough.

LOVERS' PAPER.

IN Switzerland there is a newspaper especially for engaged couples. Agents all over the country collect particulars concerning young people who have become engaged to be married, and their names, addresses, and particulars of their social position appear in this weekly journal. Every girl whose name is thus mentioned receives the paper for one year free, the subscribers to it being chiefly tradespeople who send advertisements of their goods to those whose names are so published.

Rheumatism being such a universal complaint, it is hardly to be wondered at that there exists a paper entirely for the benefit of rheumatic sufferers. This is published in Germany, and in it rheumatic patients discuss their symptoms and tell of anything that has proved a relief to their pains, while medical men contribute articles to it on the different phases, symptoms, and species of rheumatism, and the progress which the cure of rheumatism is steadily making. Needless to say, most rheumatic patients make a point of seeing this strange print.

There was staying in London recently the editor of the only illustrated paper in the whole of the Caucasus, who, therefore, is in the happy position of having no competitor. He is said to have made arrangements for the publishing of a world's miniature postcard newspaper, the print of which will be so small that the readers will be supplied with a magnifying glass in order to master its contents.

Greenland possesses one monthly journal, called the Kalorikmit. It consists of a single sheet of three columns, and is published at Godthaab, on the west coast of Greenland. A three months' subscription to the paper takes the peculiar form of two ducks. A sable skin will pay for the paper for a whole year.

The New Method.

"Yes," sighed the American heiress to the Count, "I will be your bride on one condition."

"Name it, honey bug," replied the amorous Count.

"That you make father a Duke, mother a Duchess, Uncle Will a Marquis and brother Frank an Earl."

Accepting these harsh conditions, the Count immediately wired orders to the Title factory, and the next day the papers spoke of him as a royal good fellow.—Detroit Free Press.

Expecting.

"My present patient," said the pretty nurse, "is a very peevish old millionaire."

"Never mind. He may ask you to marry him."

"Yes, he may. He has about run out of other requests."—Washington Herald.

Not So Much.

Bessie: Up to our house we got a baby that jest came the other night.

Elsie (disdainfully): Huh! that's nothing stylish; they're common things. Our washerwoman's got one o' them.—Philadelphia Press.

Play of Interest.

"This play is too rank for me. I'm going to demand my money back."

"Wait until after the next act, Bill. Sixteen years elapse between acts 1 and 2, and you demand interest on your money for that length of time."—Washington Herald.

All He Lacked.

She: Your brother has all the qualities that go to make a good husband but one.

He: What is that?

She: He won't propose.—Illustrated Bits.

Preferential.

Wife: My dear, I do wish you would use the word "sheol," it sounds better.

Hubby: It may sound better at times, but when a man steps on a tack he wants the old version.—Illustrated Bits.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL.

By Helen Rowland.

A MAN'S shoulders are not always as broad as they're padded.

You'd think every man was a beauty show from the critical way in which he sizes up the women.

Men say they hate anything loud about a woman; it must be disgust that makes them always turn around to stare after a peroxide blonde.

The saddest sight on earth is an old bachelor trying to sew on a button with a blunt needle and a piece of string.

There are some men who, before marriage, will risk their lives to pick up your parasol from in front of a whizzing automobile who wouldn't get off the sofa after marriage to pick up anything you might drop, from a hint to the baby.

A husband gets so used to his wife's conversation that after awhile it doesn't interrupt his reading of the newspaper and more than the punking in the steam pipes.

Of course men admire a circumspect woman above all things, but they seldom invite her out to supper.

Nothing bores a man worse than the devotion of the girl before the last.

Love letters lead to all sorts of complications, but postcards tell no tales.

THE PROFIT OF MIDDLEMEN.

AT THE American Museum of Natural History in New York there is an exhibition which tells in concrete form the story of how little the producer gets of what the consumer pays and how successive middlemen receive more than the laborers who do the work, the capitalists who furnish the employment and the farmers and miners who produce the raw material. The Child Labor Committee, the Consumers' League and the College Settlements Association arranged an exhibition of life and labor in the tenement house. There are models and photographs showing how families live in two rooms and take in boarders, and how the fathers, mothers, children and boarders work together making clothing. One of the exhibits shows a baby's dress which cost 14 cents for labor, 20 cents for material and sold at a fine shop for $2.50. Shirts which retail at $1.50 represented a payment for labor and cost of less than 40 cents. Dresses which sold on Fifth avenue for $5 apiece paid only 20 cents to the women and children who sewed them.

AN AVOCATION.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He had married a woman in an upper social set. "There is only one thing that clouds my happiness," he said. "I don't like to remember you had been married four times before you met me."

She did her best to stifle a yawn. "I had to put in my time some way," she wearily said, and yawned again.

We Know How

Please learn what a difference there is in baked beans, and what makes it

First the beans. We pay $2.10 per bushel for ours, to get the choicest Michigan beans. Some sell for 30 cents.

We get only the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown.

Then the tomato sauce. We could buy sauce ready made for exactly one-fifth what ours costs to make.

But we use only vine-ripened tomatoes.

We have spent 47 years in learning how best to prepare these beans

We cook in live steam, so the beans are not browned, not broken. They are baked until mealy, yet they are nutty.

Our ovens are heated to 245 degrees, so the fibre is broken down, and the beans are digestible.

The beans, the tomato sauce and the pork are all baked together. Thus we get our delicious blend.

Van Camp's pork and beans baked with tomato sauce

Compare them with home-cooked beans.

Home beans are heavy and hard to digest, because you lack the facilities to apply the needed heat.

Some are baked to a crisp; some are less than half baked.

And if you ever compare Van Camp's with other brands you will see why we advertise.

Beans are 84 per cent nutriment. They are Nature's choicest food

Beans form one of the cheapest foods, compared with their food value. And one of the very best.

Then why not serve the best beans, so that your people will want them more frequently?

And why not carry a dozen cans in the house? Then you have a hearty, delicious meal always ready.

PECULIAR WAYS TO HEAL SORES

That it is often by the simplest means that flesh rashes and sores are healed is shown by the quickness with which X-Zalia acts on the flesh. In cases where the most powerful of metallic salts makes no impression in healing the flesh this soothing external liquid accomplishes the most wonderful results. This liquid, which is sold by druggists and put up by the X-Zalia Corporation of Boston, Mass., immediately takes out all the soreness of a rash and soon heals any eruption. It can be freely used with perfect safety.

DEITRICH SUES WIFE WHO FLED WITH COACHMAN

Husband Finally Admits Heiress Is in Europe With Harry Brenchley.

SHE IS MILLIONAIRE

Beautiful Young Woman Abandoned Place in Society When She Eloped.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

RICHMOND, Va., March 30.—It is now admitted by the friends and relatives of Mrs. Alfred A. Deitrich of New York, wife of one of the younger Standard Oil magnates, that the heiress and former Virginia beauty is in Europe with Harry S. Brenchley, formerly purchasing agent and whip for Alfred G. Vanderbilt, with whom she eloped in December and for whom she abandoned her 6-year-old daughter and a place in exclusive society.

The admission is made simultaneously with the announcement that Deitrich has filed suit for absolute divorce in New York. That a divorce suit had been filed became known through the appointment by Justice Fitzgerald of a referee to take the testimony, which will be heard in private.

Drove for Vanderbilt.

Brenchley is a member of a good family in North England. He came to this country five years ago. He drove the Vanderbilt coach, Venture, on its trips from New York to Ardsley. In this way he became acquainted with many society women, among them Mrs. Deitrich, who is fond of horses. Brenchley trained many of her horses for exhibition purposes. Finally Deitrich was pursuaded that his health demanded that he take a Southern trip. On the very day that he left his home his wife departed also. That night Brenchley and two women registered at the Hotel Chelsea as Mr. and Mrs. Barker and Miss Warren. Two days later the Barkers quietly sailed for Europe. Deitrich, who was then at a fashionable club in the South, hurried to New York.

It was learned that Mrs. Deitrich and her mother did not sail together, as was stated by the husband, but that the older woman journed to Europe in order to act as Deitrich's ambassador in an effort to effect a reconciliation.

Worth Several Millions.

The news of the elopement of Mrs. Deitrich created a sensation in Richmond, where, as the beautiful Miss Edna H. Young, neice and heiress of Mahor Lewis Ginter, the millionaire Virginia tobacconist, she visited often. The young woman, who inherited a considerable share of the wealth of Maj. Ginter, is said to be worth several millions in her own right.

Her Parents Wealthy.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Young, the parents of Mrs. Deitrich, moved to Virginia shortly after the close of the Civil War. They settled in Richmond and gradually amassed a fortune.

Mrs. Deitrich first appeared in Richmond society 12 years ago. After her marriage she abandoned Richmond except for a few weeks each year. She is about 28 years old.

MESSENGER IDENTIFIED AS THIEF BY CUTS ON HIS HANDS

Ticket Seller at Nickelodeon Tells Police She Is Sure Youth Robbed Her.

Through scratches on his hands, Frank Grady, 18 years old, messenger boy for the Western Union Telegraph Co., was identified by Miss Myra Anthony, cashier of the Lyric Nickleodeon, 716 Olive street, as the youth who grabbed $64 from the Lyric's box office at 10:30 p. m. Sunday. Miss Anthony also identified the garments worn by Grady, but was most positive about the hands.

"These are the hands," she exclaimed when she saw Grady at Central District Police Station. "I cannot be mistaken. I held them."

Miss Anthony was counting up the day's receipts when a youth approached and purchased a ticket for the show. Miss Anthony saw his hand steal into the cage and grab a roll of bills. She grabbed the hand and held it firmly.

The youth, after a struggle, managed to free himself by bracing his knees against the side of the box office and pulling with such force as to break the glass window.

PICKLE DISEASE CAUSES BIG CONCERN TO CLOSE

Washington Experts Think Suspended Firm Will Be Out of Business for Five Years.

MAINTOWOC, Wis., March 30.—Disease which has appeared in the fields has forced a Manitowoc pickling concern to close its plants and abandon its business, and there is no chance that the company can reopen for at least five years, say experts of the Agricultural Department at Washington.

The cucumbers are affected by a fungus growth which spots the product and makes it unmarketable, it is claimed, and as a result the business is practically destroyed.

The trouble was experienced last year and less than 30 per cent of the product grown could be sold by the company. The condition is said to result from atmospheric conditions of the lake shore district and has forced one of the largest pickling companies in the country to close several of its growing stations.

LATEST LIVESTOCK NEWS.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., March 30.—Estimated receipts today compare with a week and a year ago, as follows:

	Today.	Week ago.	Year ago.
Cattle	3,500	2,500	2,800
Hogs	8,000	5,500	4,700
Sheep	1,500	1,700	600
Horses and mules	700	1,300	850

NATIVE CATTLE—The day's fair supply included around 3100 native cattle, of which a fair proportion was beef steers, and quite a number fair to good in quality. Good kinds sold around $7@7.15, with the bulk of the fair to pretty good classes selling from $5.65@6.50. Trading was slow, as buyers wanted the cattle, but wanted them at lower values, and the market for all classes of cattle was from 10@15c under the prices prevailing at the close of the week.

Most of the butcher cattle received were fair to good in quality, and sold rather slowly at 10@15c lower prices, the best heifers bringing $6, cows, $5.50, and bulls, $5.50.

There was little change in the market for veal calves, the best received selling at $6.50, which has been the top most of the time for a week or ten days.

Only a few stockers and feeders were received, but, in sympathy with the weakness in fat cattle values, they sold weak to a shade lower.

HOGS—A good supply of hogs arrived, the receipts being larger than any day last week. The market on Saturday was much higher than any of the other Western markets and showed a gain of 25@40c over the day before, but this morning it opened slow and 10@15c lower. Buyers wanted the hogs, but they wanted them in line with other markets.

Some good butcher hogs and good weight shippers sold at $6.05, and one load brought $6.07½, while the popular price was $6.00. Plain mixed hogs that went to the packers sold principally at $5.90@5.95, although the packers paid as high as $6 for a few of their purchases. Lights were also lower, but those that were good sold readily. Common pigs were hard to sell.

A New Copper Company Flotation.

Adolph Lewisohn and associates offer the public an opportunity to secure stock in a mining enterprise.

The public flotation of the Miami Copper Co. is a departure from previous methods in the issuing of mining securities, which they say is done at this time with a view of inviting public examination in a mining enterprise by exposing to view the original cost and all profits connected with the flotation of the company.

The Miami Copper Co., with a contemplated capital outstanding of 500,000 shares of stock, par value $5 per share, 200,000 shares of treasury stock are now being offered to the public at $5 per share in all the leading cities of the United States. Books will be opened April 6 and closed the next day. The stock will have an active market in New York, Boston and the leading mining centers. See advertisement in this issue.

WHEAT DECLINES CORN RULES FIRM

Very Favorable Condition of Winter Crop Depresses Finer Grain Fractionally.

STATISTICS ARE BULLISH

Afloat Stocks Decrease for First Time in Months—Cables Lower.

While the bulls in wheat were somewhat favored by the statistical features Monday, that faction found nothing calculated to encourage them in the domestic crop news and the technical situation in the pit, which latter factors in the present condition of the market are dominant price-governing features. Prices as a result sold down easily and though some steadiness developed late the close was ⅝c to ¾c down for the day.

World's shipments of wheat were 10,016,000 bu, against 10,528,000 bu last week, and 9,456,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply of wheat decreased 960,000 bu and now amount to 38,087,000 bu, compared with a decrease of 565,000 bu, with 47,208,000 bu in sight at the same time last year. The supply of wheat and flour on ocean passage amounts to 59,928,000 bu, against 61,080,000 bu last week and 49,184,000 bu a year ago.

Good and general rains were reported over a large part of the winter belt and this moisture did an immense amount of good to the crop, late reports stating that general conditions are now all that could be wished for. There is no doubt that as far as the domestic winter crop is concerned the situation is rapidly becoming more bearish, danger from green bugs, which, with the recent lack of moisture, was the main bugaboo now appearing improbable. Minneapolis reported that the weather in the Northwest is splendid and that prospects are for early and favorable seeding of the spring wheat crop. These were the main features early and were supplemented by good receipts in the Northwest, though the latter are below last year's very large run and the good inflow at most winter markets. World's shipments, while somewhat "larger than expected," were less than those of the previous week; afloat stocks for the first time in months showed a falling off, losing over 1,000,000 bu, and there was a good decrease in the domestic visible, but these features were ignored, and prices sold down, some steadiness developing when a decline of about a cent was reached.

May wheat opened ⅝c lower at 94⅝c, declined to 94¼@94¼c, advanced to 94½c, declined to 94c, and rallied to 94¼c. July wheat opened ⅜@½c lower at 85¼c, declined to 84⅞c, advanced to 85¼c, fluctuated between 85c and 85¼c, declined to 84⅝c, and rallied to 85c.

Liverpool cables on wheat closed ⅝c lower, Berlin 1¼c lower and Budapest ¾c higher.

The Minneapolis cash market was dull and slow, with No. 1 Northern selling 1½c over May option and No. 2 ½c to 1c under May. Minneapolis stocks increased 25,000 bu for two days. Minneapolis cars were 352, against 573 last year, Duluth 50, against 159 last year, and Winnipeg 271, against 183 last year.

The utmost sluggishness in cash wheat was noted at all of the large markets, with the mills all of the market entirely, and the export business was also slow, though Duluth reported good sales of durum and a late wire from the East reported 12 loads of red wheat worked. Shorts covered on the downward trend, which, while it strengthened the market temporarily, seems to have left it in a technically weak position, as the shorts are now pretty well out of the market. A partial recovery was made from the low point and the close was rather steady.

May wheat sagged to 94¼c, and advanced to 94½c, closing at 94¼c bid. July wheat fluctuated between 84⅞c and 85¼c, advanced to 85¼@85⅜c, and closed at 85¼c sellers.

Cash wheat was in very slow demand in the local market and prices were weak and lower in a dull market.

Primary receipts of wheat were 719,515 bu, with shipments of 233,367 bu and local receipts were 54,000, with shipments of 56,820 bu.

Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 306,000 bu.

After opening at slightly easier levels, in sympathy with wheat and on the ⅜d lower cables, corn developed into a very strong affair, with buying coming from all sources, and with offerings soon pretty well cleaned out. Prices advanced rapidly in a very active market and closed strong at the high point at advances of ¾c to 1¼c for the day.

The visible supply of corn decreased 68,000 bu and world's shipments of corn were 2,065,000 bu.

Cash corn was in good demand and firmer.

Primary receipts of corn were 926,997 bu, with shipments of 386,514 bu, and local receipts were 287,100 bu, with shipments of 83,800 bu.

Corn clearances were 50,000 bu.

The oats future market was inactive, with offerings ¼c higher, but no bids. The oats visible increased 691,000 bu. Oats clearances were 1000 bu.

Primary receipts of oats were 741,512 bu, with shipments of 286,829 bu, and local receipts were 200,000 bu, with shipments of 107,140 bu.

FLOUR—Receipts were 15,240 bbls.; shipments 6910 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, patents, $4.60@4.80; straights, $4.40@4.50; extra fancy, $4.20@4.30, in wood; hard, jute sacks, patent, $4.40@4.65; straight, $4.15@4.30; clears, $3.65@3.85; low grade, $3@3.25; spring patents, $5.10@5.20 in jute.

HAY—Receipts, 650 tons local and 200 tons through; shipments 655 tons. Quote timothy, choice, $17@17.50; No. 1, $14.50@16.50; No. 2, $12@14; No. 3, $8@12; no grade, $5@7. Clover mixed, choice, $14; No. 1, $11.50@12; No. 2, $10@12; clover hay, No. 1, $13@13.50; No. 2, $10@12. Prairie hay choice, $12; No. 1, $10@11; No. 2, $9@10.

Writing 220 Words a Minute.

LONDON, March 28.—Sidney H. Godfrey, a native of Ottery St. Mary, Devonshire, has won the world's championship cup for fast shorthand writing for the second time, the competition this year being held at the Olympia Business Show. Last year Mr. Godfrey won the cup with 200 words per minute, and this year his speed was 220 words per minute for five minutes with transcript.

TICKER TALK.

Call money on the New York exchange opened at 1¾ per cent Monday and was quoted later at 2 per cent.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The "street" had time to consider the Atchison February earnings, published just before the close on Saturday, and were very well satisfied with them. Well-informed people who are bullish on the stock expect the dividend to be cut to 5 per cent, but on the February figures say that such a reduction will be all that the most conservative can desire.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

Insistent buying of commercial bills by country banks was a feature of the first day of the week, and that quotations are working steadily lower was shown by the competition between banks on first-class names. There were reports of transactions consummated as low as 5 per cent.

Deposit accounts are not changing to any material extent, yet there is some satisfaction at the somewhat better deposit showing made by the trust companies.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The irregularity in the copper stocks in London attracted attention, as Rio Tinto sold off while the American copper issues improved. This did not prevent some selling of the latter here mostly on trade reports, which are not altogether trusted where they talk of improvement.

DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS

N.Y. STOCKS SELL LOWER AT OPENING

Losses in Both Divisions of the Exchange Are Fractional.

NEW YORK, March 30, 10 a. m.—The opening of the stock market this morning showed losses in a large majority of issues. Without exception, however, these losses were fractional. Among the rails the largest divergence from the closing was not more than ½ point. There was little change from Saturday, the general sentiment about trading being the same.

Amalgamated Copper was the only active stock among the industrials that opened higher, but the advance was only ⅛.

National Lead was ¾ off and inclined to sell off in the early trading. Steels were at parity, and at the end of the first half hour were slightly lower.

Pennsylvania and Union Pacific were the only stocks among the rails that gained on their initial sales, each being ¼ above parity.

Reading and Northern Pacific were the leaders of the early trading, and each was a small fraction higher than its opening at the end of the first half hour. The market was wavering and irresolute, and with the exception of the two issues just named, was inclined to sag. Fluctuations were small.

American stocks in London were firm and from ⅛ to ½ higher.

NEW YORK, March 30, 12:30 p. m.—With the single exception of Northern Pacific, which gained ½, the prices of stocks declined during the forenoon hours. Erie was the particularly weak feature of the rails, losing 1¼ points from its opening figures.

This would indicate that there may be more difficulty than was anticipated in financing the corporation.

Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, St. Paul and Reading dropped about ¾ each, and other rail issues were from ⅛ to ½ lower.

Smelters was the weakest member in the industrials in the forenoon, sagging 1¾ points. American Car and Foundry, preferred and common, made average recessions of ¾, the preferred being much weaker than the common.

The Steel stocks were comparatively inactive and a small fraction lower than their opening at noon.

Amalgamated Copper declined almost a point and Lead about ½.

American Sugar did not open.

Sales to noon were 334,900 shares.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Bank exchanges last week at all leading cities in the United States are $1,973,506,644, 30.2 per cent under a year ago, and 17.5 per cent less than in the corresponding week of 1906. The loss at New York City still reflects in part the largely reduced volume of stock market operations this year; outside of New York there is a decrease of 18.1 per cent compared with last year, mainly due to the much smaller clearings at Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburg, most Southern cities and at San Francisco. The losses at the West are still small, notably at Chicago, while some Western cities report larger exchanges than last year and nearly all of them larger exchanges than in the corresponding week in March two years ago, when trade was active. Average daily bank exchanges for the year to date are compared below for three years:

Dispatches to Dun's Review from branch offices of R. G. Dun & Co. in the Dominion of Canada indicate little change in the commercial situation except a normal increase in spring business as the season advances. Buyers are cautious at Montreal, but distribution of heavy merchandise will increase when spring freight rates go into effect, on April 1. Collections are not yet satisfactory. Movement of dry goods is restricted at Toronto, dealers showing no desire to accumulate stocks; these light supplies promise activity with the return of normal money conditions and fair crop prospects.

FAIR FINANCE--YUKON--10

Thanks to that Mighty horse-sense public, whom the great Lincoln said no man could fool the second time, that public which in 38 years has never failed to back me up in my public exploitations, I landed YUKON on Saturday a splendid success—an all-record-breaking success. In two hours' trading 700,000 shares were sold. Never before in the history of Stocks, even in a full trading day of five hours, have even 250,000 actual shares of any stock been sold by one interest. In spite of the great, good-natured mob, which trampled upon rules and regulations and swept aside the extra police detail to Wall and State Streets, my programme went through on schedule time. A great section of the public now own the 700,000 shares. Another and larger section have been left—belated. They will come into the market today and following days and their buying will advance the price to 10, perhaps to 15, its actual worth now—and later to whatever price is justified by the splendid dividends it will pay. Never has any stock affair so uniformly benefited everyone concerned in it, sellers, buyers, brokers and speculators. All classes have made money, particularly the brokers, who, because of the way in which it was handled, have made for themselves in one day's trading, besides their commissions, $250,000 to $350,000 which otherwise would have come to me.

While Wall and State Streets had a wild time of it, as they always must have when the great public, bent on real business, visits them, it was such a good-natured, jolly time that their hats should be in the air along with their huzzahs, but, instead, a section of both localities are sorely disappointed at my success, as they always have been and probably always will be. These say, now that I am leaving YUKON to "The Street," that they will see that it does not go above 8 for some time to come. I should leave the stock to "The Street" but the attitude of these growlers has decided me to stay with it for a week longer, to show them that to keep a stock in great demand at say 10 for the present, even though it has all been turned over to the public at an average of 7, and even though they, the public, are to secure all the benefits of the rise, it is as easy as it is to sell 700,000 shares in two hours when the combined efforts of "The Street" cannot market half that amount of stock in two weeks. The growlers will see, too, how prettily a stock will perform for the public when the real public comes to town to buy it.

I have carried out my programme to the letter, and the public have all the YUKON which will be sold to them, unless, when it is found impossible to keep the price below 15, it should become necessary to let some of the Exploration Company's 2,800,000 shares, which President Daniel Guggenheim has assured me will not be sold but at much higher figures than now prevail.

Therefore, I say again to the public everywhere:

"Buy YUKON at any price under 15, as an investment, and I say to all who have already bought, don't part with any of your stock under 10. I ask both classes to watch the movements of YUKON in all the different markets where it will be most actively traded in from now on, and to judge by its price whether some of us know as much about market operations as we do about talking to the people through the press megaphone."

PROSPECTUS

This Company is owner of mining claims acquired from the General Development Company as Vendor.

The properties consist of a group of claims containing approximately 200 acres of mineral lands on which the General Development Company has expended large sums of money in developing and proving the value of the ground.

Reference is made for a description of the property, character of the ore deposits and the probable cost of production, to following Report of J. Parke Channing, Engineer, the eminent authority on copper properties:

"New York, March 12th, 1908.

Adolph Lewisohn, Esq.,
President Miami Copper Company,
42 Broadway, New York City,

Dear Sir:

The property of the Miami Copper Company consists of about 300 acres, 200 of which is mineral land, located six miles west of the City of Globe, Arizona, at which city are the mines and works of the well-known Old Dominion Company.

Development which is still being carried on shows to date 2,000,000 tons of concentrating ore containing 3 per cent of copper. Ore was struck at a depth of 220 feet, and the bottom of the shaft, at a depth of 500 feet, is still in ore, and the area shown of the ore body is 300 feet by 350 feet, without having as yet reached the limits, so that the prospects are that an enormous body of concentrating ore will be developed as indicated by surface conditions.

The Gila Valley Globe & Northern Railway ends at Globe, six miles distant, and surveys past the Miami have been made and right of way secured; this extension will pass within a quarter of a mile of the mine. There is abundant water available for concentration purposes.

It is proposed to erect the first unit of a reduction works, which unit will have a daily capacity of 1000 tons. This will give an annual production of 14,000,000 pounds of copper, based on 350 days' running time and a yield from the 3 per cent ore of 2 per cent, or 40 pounds of copper to the ton.

Concentrating tests have shown that the ore can be readily concentrated 10 into 1 and the resulting concentrate smelted with the above yield in fine copper. It is estimated that the cost of electrolytic copper sold in New York will be 9c per pound. On this basis the profits at 12c copper will be $420,000 per annum and at 15c copper $840,000 per annum. As developments advance a second unit of 1000 tons daily capacity will be built which will double the above figures of profit.

It is estimated that it will require $750,000 to erect the necessary first unit of the reduction works and that $250,000 additional will be required for mine plant, shops, buildings, etc.

The ore deposit of the Miami Copper Company is in nature similar to those of the Arizona Copper Company, the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company, the Utah Copper Company, and the Boston Consolidated Mining Company; that is, large masses of ore in which the copper as a sulphide mineral is disseminated through the rock and which readily yields a high grade concentrate by water treatment, which can be easily smelted.

The mining is simple and cheap and when found these deposits are the most valuable as copper producers. The Miami ore running 3 per cent in copper as it does, is higher in grade than any of the above mentioned properties and it will without doubt prove a large producer and dividend payer.

Yours truly,
(Signed) J. PARKE CHANNING,
Consulting Engineer."

As the entire outstanding capital of the Company (including the proceeds of the 200,000 treasury shares that are now being issued) amounts to only $2,500,000, it will be apparent that the prospects are bright for large returns.

The Company has in its treasury 300,000 shares of the par value of $5.00 each. The balance of its share capital was issued to the General Development Company as Vendor, in payment for the properties upon which the latter had expended large sums of money in acquiring and exploiting the claims. The various contracts between the original owners of the claims of the General Development Company and others from whom they were purchased, showing the original cost of the various properties together with statements of the amounts paid therefor by the General Development Company, the moneys expended by it in exploiting and developing the properties and everything appertaining to their cost, will be filed at the office of the National Copper Bank, open for public inspection.

It is intended to inaugurate a radical departure from previous methods in the issue of properties of this character, with a view to inviting public confidence by fully exposing the original cost and all profits connected with the flotation of the Company.

For the purpose of providing the necessary funds for the erection of reduction works with a capacity for treating 1000 tons of ore per day, and for the proper equipment of the properties for further development and the installation of machinery,

200,000 SHARES OF THE TREASURY STOCK ARE NOW OFFERED FOR SUBSCRIPTION AT PAR, PAYABLE AS FOLLOWS:

$2 per share to accompany the application for subscription; and the balance of $3 per share payable within ten days after notice of final allotment.

If less than the number of shares applied for is allotted, the sum paid on subscription will be credited on the number of shares allotted. On failure to make the final payment, the amount paid on subscription will be forfeited.

Applications for subscriptions should be made to the National Copper Bank, No. 115 Broadway, New York City. All checks should be made payable to the order of the National Copper Bank.

The subscription list will be opened on APRIL 6, 1908, AND WILL BE CLOSED ON THE FOLLOWING DAY. The Company reserves the right, however, to close the subscription list at any time without notice; to reject any subscription, and to allot any smaller amounts than applied for.

All proceedings connected with the organization of the Company and the issue of its stock have been taken under the supervision of Messrs. Guggenheimer, Untermeyer & Marshall, the Counsel for the Company.

The expenses of the public issue other than the underwriting charges are borne by the General Development Company, so that the entire proceeds of this issue after deducting the underwriting commission, will be available as working capital in the treasury of the Miami Copper Company.

The entire issue of stock now being offered has been fully underwritten by responsible parties under an agreement that is lodged with the Bankers, and is open for inspection. By this agreement the Underwriters are bound to take all the stock not subscribed for by the public. Stock will be dealt in on New York and Boston curb.

FOUND HUSBAND FOR WOMAN; ASK BEDSTEAD AS FEE

Owner Sues to Recover Property and Case Is Contested.

MAN'S VALUE AT ISSUE

Plaintiff Ridicules Charge That She Offered $500 to Be Married.

Special to the Post-Dispatch

LANCASTER, Mo., March 28.—A referee in a case tried here this week has had put squarely before him the wage due an assistant of Cupid.

"Dora Wenninger, plaintiff, vs. B. D. and Pearl Mitchell, accounting," looked simple enough to Former Mayor E. L. French, and when the Circuit Judge asked him if he would consent to act as referee and make a finding, he promptly consented. Now he wishes he hadn't. The problem has traveled far out of the dry technicalities of the law, and has taken in the delicate and somewhat complicated motif inspiring the six best sellers.

He has tried every rule of the code on the question, and, finding no relief there, is reading up on the "Priests of Passion," "Affinity Anachronisms" and Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

What Is Husband's Value?

"But I don't seem to get anything to fit," he remarked, sadly, "the books waste too many words on flowers. What I want to know is, is it worth half interest in a livery barn, and the undivided possession of an iron bedstead to locate a new husband for a widow, the said husband having an expectancy of $25,000 or less from a personal damage suit against a street car company?"

The Mitchells say it is. At any rate, according to the plaintiff, they have appropriated that much of her property, under an alleged agreement.

Mrs. Wenninger has a different opinion.

"What sense would there be in giving them my barn just to go out and stand up with a man and get married to him?" she asked while being questioned on the witness stand regarding her alleged agreement with the Mitchells. "I'd been married before," she added. "I ain't no spring chicken."

Didn't Need Assistance.

Later, when asked regarding the contract to give the Mitchells her barn and iron bedstead in event that they could find a husband worth $7000 for her, Mrs. Wenninger declared:

"Somebody's been loading you up with a lot of nonsense, Mister. There ain't no man worth that much.

"I don't need anybody to assist me in getting a husband; I am of age, I reckon, and I know how to go around without being led. When I have to get somebody to help me get a husband I will ask for a guardian. I look after those little matters myself. I do!"

Mrs. Dora Skinner, tall, slender, straight-mouthed, quick-spoken and 45, moved from Kansas City to the home of her relatives, Bert D. and Pearl Mitchell, at Queen City, Mo., in September, 1906. She brought with her an iron bedstead, and later on gave Mitchell $500 for a half interest in his livery barn. Not long afterwards Mrs. Skinner went to Lincoln, Neb., and married Gotlieb Wenninger, the man with the great expectations from the street car company. Then she wrote Mitchell, suggesting that he account for her share of the profits of the barn.

Wanted "Girl" to Travel.

In their defiance, the Mitchells contended that they had liquidated all obligations due their kinswoman by aiding her in finding a wealthy husband. They laid stress on a trip taken by them to Lincoln in accompanying Mrs. Wenninger to meet her prospective husband. The plaintiff thus explains this incident:

"I proposed that if they wanted to they could go along with me. I would pay Pearl's way. The poor girl had never been anywhere and had never seen the world like I had and I wanted to give her a little chance to travel. People have to travel some in order to have good sense, you know. I had traveled.

"Where have I traveled Why, let me see. I have been to Kansas, to Scott's Bluff, Neb.; to Kirksville, to Queen City—Oh, everywhere, most."

Witness Amuses Crowd.

Mrs. Wenninger was never at a loss to answer questions. She was very much in earnest, but enjoyed the evident pleasure she was giving the crowd by her original answers. Her cousins, whom she is suing, had long been her favorite relatives, and she always spoke of them together as "Bert and Pearl," evidently still holding them in affectionate regard.

But she is absolutely satisfied that she never agreed to pay $500 and the bedstead for a mail order husband, and she declares that she will prosecute her case if she has to chase it through "all the courts of America and into the Holy Land."

CONDUITS AT HAND FOR A CITY LIGHTING PLANT

Space Reserved by Ordinance for Underground Municipal Wires.

MONEY TO BE SAVED

Estimated That St. Louis Can Illuminate Downtown District Economically.

Miles of conduits in the "underground district," now being lighted by electricity at an annual cost of $158,000, are available for free use by the city whenever the people desire to establish a municipal plant.

Under the conditions of section 1100 of the Keyes ordinance, governing the installation of conduits, the Board of Public Improvements is directed to reserve free of cost to the city "such ducts, manholes and appurtenances" as may be required for the municipal telephones and fire alarms. This reservation is made in the case of the telephone companies, not only in the conduits, but also on poles.

It has been held both by Hiram Phillips, formr presiden of the Board of Public Improvements, and by Thomas B. Carter, former supervisor of city lighting, that the same space for public use may be obtained in the lighting conduits.

Wires Concentrated After Merger.

It is said by men familiar with conditions in the "underground" district that there are miles of conduits not occupied. This is due to the fact that the several companies—Imperial, Missouri-Edison and Laclede—all had separate conduits. When the Union Electric Light and Power Co. absorbed these concerns the wires and cables were, for convenience sake, concentrated into as few conduits as possible.

The city could exercise its option at any moment, it is pointed out, and distribute its wires through these conduits and thus save the expense at once of constructing and maintaining them.

The Keyes ordinance imposes on the owner of the conduits the obligation of keeping them in repair without any recourse on the city.

Distribution of current is conceded to be the chief outlay in a lighting plant. Construction of conduits is placed at from $15,000 to $25,000 a mile in the central part of the city. This cost would be saved the city if space in the conduits already laid by the various lighting companies could be utilized under the provisions of the Keyes ordinance.

City Hall Plant Success.

The success of the municipal plant at the City Hall indicates that the city could light all that section now illuminated by the Union company at a smaller expense than at present.

Charging all cost of fuel, labor and supplies to the generation of current, the city is now lighting the City Hall, Four Courts, Courthouse, Central District Police Station and an engine house, operating elevators and furnishing heat and hot water in the City Hall for $22,648.21 a year. That means the electric current is produced for 2.75 cents per kilowatt hour. At the rate paid to the Union company—4.5 per kilowatt hour—the total would be $37,058.26 a year, and would be exclusive of heat and hot water.

The ratio of saving would not be so great, it is admitted, in a plant of sufficient capacity to light the present underground district, but it would be enough, according to well-informed persons, to justify the experiment.

TRAIN WENT TOO FAST SO LAWMAKERS STOPPED IT

Whizzing Around Sharp Curves Alarmed Members of Parliament.

LONDON, March 28.—Frightened by the swaying of a fast express on the Southeastern & Chatham Railroad, as it rounded sharp curves, three members of Parliament, passengers on the train, pulled the bellcord, stopped the express and requested the engineer to complete the trip to London at slower speed. They have also decided to demand an inquiry into the matter.

The lawmakers who objected to fast riding were Clem Edwards, chairman of the Nationalization of Railways Association; Alfred Mond and J. Rowlands.

"The train swayed from side to side, throwing us in all directions," Mr. Edwards explained. "We expected every moment that it would leave the rails. We considered the situation so serious that we decided to pull the bellcord."

LEGALLY DEAD, MAN LIVING

Missing Husband Consents to Wife Collecting Insurance.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., March 28.—Word has been received from North Yakima, Wash., that Ernest Rummery, who has been declared dead by the courts of Chippewa County, on the application of his wife, who sought the collection of a $2000 life insurance policy, is at present working in the woods near that city, where he has been during the past 12 years.

An agent of the insurance company recently located Rummery. He told the agent that the policy would expire in January, 1909, and that he was willing to let his wife have the money. The policy, which was a 20-payment life, had been kept up by Mrs. Rummery since the mysterious disappearance of her husband.

Santos Dumont Loses $9650 Bet.

PARIS, March 28.—As a result of his loss of the wager that within six months he would cover 62 miles an hour with a hydroplane to be constructed by him, M. Santos Dumont has sent a check for $9650 to M. Charron and the latter has given one-fiftieth of this amount to the Aero Club de France as a prize for the encouragement of aviation.

LOVE IS GOOD FOR COMPLEXION SAYS A PASTOR

It Will Take Away More Wrinkles Than 10,000 Lotions, He Declares.

DEPLORES "SCRAPPING"

The Rev. J. Y. Reid of Belleville Tells Men They Should Not Be Substitutes.

BELLEVILLE PASTOR'S OPINIONS ABOUT LOVE

Love is better than lotions for wrinkles.

Many couples, instead of being one, are half a dozen.

Some men never know what sorrow is until they get married.

A man who takes a woman on trial ought to be sent to jail.

Marriage is no put-up job of man.

I wish the Devil had died when he was a baby.

Don't marry a woman who has no temper.

After you get her, pray God to help her control her temper.

Don't be a substitute husband.

Some couples scrap like everything the first week.

Love is good for the complexion, according to the Rev. J. Y. Reid, pastor of the First M. E. Church, Belleville. He talked to husbands about husbands Sunday night and the wives of husbands, present and prospective, sat by and listened very attentively and approvingly.

He told the husbands that the best way to keep the wrinkles away from their wives' faces was to keep on loving them after marriage the same as before.

Will Keep Away Wrinkles.

"Love will keep more wrinkles away than 10,000 lotions," he said. "If you men would love your wives the way you should they would have less need to spread on face preparations when they go out calling."

It had been his observation, he said, that in many homes, instead of the twain becoming one, they became half a dozen.

It was all right, he said, to take physical beauty into account in picking out a wife, but he reminded the husbands that beauty fades unless it is carefully looked after. Among other things, he said:

"A great many men never know what sorrow is until after they are married.

"With some, marriage is a matter of business. With others it is experimental. A man takes a woman on trial to see if he likes her. He ought to be sent to jail for that. God didn't make men and women to be playthings, to be broken and cast aside. A man should select a wife with care. He should select such a woman as God would have him select, a helpmeet and congenial companion.

Wishes Devil Had Died.

"God instituted marriage. It was no put-up job of man. He made the right kind of a woman for Adam and made Adam the right kind of a man for Eve, and if it hadn't been for the old Devil they would have been in the Garden of Eden yet. I wish the Devil would have died when he was a baby.

"The men and women who fall in love at first sight and get married the same day usually separate the next day.

"Before you marry, study well. Be sure that you love the woman. She should be of good character and compatible age. A man of 70 should never marry a girl of 16. I read the other day of such a marriage. He was very rich. Poor man and poor girl. That was a marriage for business considerations. She wanted his money. She hoped the old man would die soon, so that she could get his money.

"Consider the quality of the woman, the education of the woman, and don't forget the temper of the woman. For God's sake don't marry a woman who has no temper, but after you get her pray God to help her control it. Some people get married and scrap like everything the first week.

"Don't Be a Substitute."

"When you are married, be a true husband and not a substitute. The world is filled with substitute husbands. I wouldn't know half of the husbands of the women of this church if I met them on the street. They know me, of course, and when I pass them without speaking to them, I suppose they say, 'Huh, that preacher is stuck up.' How do they expect me to know them when I never saw them before?

"There will be happiness in the home if the husband is as gentle, unselfish and courteous after marriage as before. There should be as much of the sunshine of love for all the years after the marriage as there was before."

The Rev Mr. Reid announced that he would talk to women next Sunday night.

REV. J. Y. REID

POISON, TAKEN AFTER QUARREL, KILLS BRIDE

Mrs. Anna Sieve, a bride of a year, who swallowed carbolic acid at her home, 1433 Cleary street, Sunday afternoon, following a quarrel with her mother, Mrs. Anna O'Reilly, died Monday morning at the City Hospital.

George Sieve, the husband, said Monday he did not know that his wife was dead. Sieve said that his wife and her mother had quarreled repeatedly and he had tried to remain neutral between them.

"When Anna swallowed the acid her mother said: 'Well, I think you will be better off dead anyway.' She had never threatened suicide before. I did not know the acid was in the house, but found the women had used it for killing cockroaches."

Mrs. O'Reilly, the mother of Mrs. Sieve, left her home Sunday afternoon to go to a new place of employment in the West End.

The husband said he would have to notify her before he would go to the City Hospital to take charge of the body.

PLAIN TRUTH
From Thirty Years' Experience.

The plain truth from simple, honest folks, is the very best testimony anyone can ask. Here's what a St. L. man says about coffee.

"As I have had thirty years' experience with coffee and its effects, I may be permitted to say something pertinent to the subject.

"My appetite began to fail, food disturbed my stomach, bowels became badly constipated, was restless, sleep so greatly disturbed I dreaded to go to bed.

"My stomach got so bad I could not eat anything for supper but milk and a cracker. In the evening I would be so thirsty nothing would satisfy me but a cup of strong, cold coffee.

"Coffee was my invariable drink for breakfast, with a doughnut or piece of toast. I was all the time consulting the doctor, taking digestive preparations to help the stomach, and cathartics to move the bowels, frequently having attacks of terrible pain in the bowels which would necessitate calling the doctor.

"After many years of this, I became convinced that something must be done.

At last I got hold of Postum and began using it in place of coffee and have continued to use it daily for the past 6 years. The improvement was gradual, but sure. For the system requires time to recover from the damage done by coffee and feel the full benefits of Postum.

Improvement has continued from the very first to the present. Digestion grew better, bowels became regular, and at bedtime I now anticipate a good night's sleep with pleasure.

The change from coffee to Postum has made a wonderful change in my condition. It could not be expected that a man 81, with 2 years' and 10 months' service in the army, could be made young again. But I do honestly believe I state the plain truth when I say that if I had not changed from coffee to Postum I should have been, by this time, a helpless invalid, if alive."
